NATE WANTS NO SPECIAL SESSION OF LEGISLATURE

FORM FERGUSON ADMINSTRATION THERE IS NO NEED AT PRESENT

AUSTIN, Sept. 20. (AP)—The Ferson administration today was d by the Texas senate that no ed existed for the convening of other special session of the Tex- legislature and further, that a l to create a new oil and gas vision likely would be defeated.

Only two members, Senators oy Sanderford of Belton and ill M. Martin of Hillsboro, aunch Ferguson supporters, opsed adoption of a resolution citing "that it is the sense of e senate that no added special ssion of the 43rd legislature ems to be reasonably necessary this time."

The issue of creating a new l and gas commission was not entioned in the resolution, but was injected in debate by Senor Martin.

Talk of another special session consider that question has een current in legislative halls r the past several days and ained momentum when more an a two-thirds majority of the ouse of representatives pledged upport to the proposition.

At the last regular session of e legislature, the house passed bill to create a new agency to eplace the Texas Railroad Comission as administrator of state l conservation statutes. The sente, however, killed it.

Bitter condemnation of the raiload commission was voiced by enator Martin as he called on e senate to "come out and give e real reason" for opposing anher session, "that we are against reation of a new oil and gas ommission."

Opposes Another Session.

AUSTIN, Sept 20.—(AP)—The exas senate today over-whelmgly voiced direct opposition to onvening of another special session of the legislature to consider reation of a new oil and gas ommission. By a vote of 21 to , the senate adopted a resoluon declaring there was no need or another session.

Pari-Mutuel Repeal Bill.

AUSTIN, Sept. 20.—(AP)—A bill o repeal the pari-mutuel race rack wagering law was placed n a position in the Texas house oday to obtain speedy action, he house voting to mimeograph he bill instead of delaying to

NAME OF TROTZKY LINKED WITH PLAN OF SPANISH REVOLT

UPRISING SCHEDULED FOR DAYBREAK TODAY DISCOVERED AND AVERTED

MADRID, Sept. 20.—(AP)— The name of Leon Trotzky, exiled leader of Soviet Russia, flashed into the picture today as a revolutionary uprising scheduled for daybreak proved abortive.

Rafael Salazar Alonzo, minister of the interior, described plans for the rebellion as "Trotzky's strategy, mixed with American gangsterism."

There have been persistent reports that Trotzky, ordered from France last April for revolutionary activities, had been seen in Catalonia recently. Attempts to learn his whereabouts through French officials proved unfruitful.

The "zero hour" for the outbreak passed under the vigilance of government guns and there were few signs of the threatened Communist and Socialist revolt.

Machine guns covered Madrid and squads of picked riflemen parolled the streets and guarded government buildings. Many sus- including Socialist labor s, were under arrest and ties of arms have been ated.

ANXIOUSLY AWAIT MEDIATION BOARD'S RECOMMENDATIONS

THREAT BY LABOR LEADERS TO CALL OUT ADDITIONAL WORKERS VOICED

By The Associated Press.

The textile world anxiously awaited reports from a luncheon conference today at Hyde Park the summer white house.

President Roosevelt, secretary of Labor Frances Perkins and Governor John G. Winant of New Hampshire, chairman of the President's textile mediation board, were to meet at the conference table.

Confronting them was labor's threat to spread the strike to 100,000 more textile workers unless a settlement is reached this week.

Textile centers for the most part were quiet after sporadic outbreaks of disorder yesterday, but threats of violence lingered.

North Carolina prepared to bury the strike's thirteenth victim, Ernest K. Riley, 40-year-old striker and father of ten children, who died of a stab wound after a melee Tuesday night at Belmont, N. C.

Vigilante committees were on duty in Belmont and in Lexington, N. C., where strikers and workers clashed yesterday as a silk mill reopened.

Forty militia units patrolled in the Carolinas. Demobilization of troops continued in Connecticut, but in Maine, a Howitzer unit of the national guard was ordered to Waterville.

A soldier was injured at Waterville last night when strike

Bombs Are Used In War Against Japanese Farmers

PHOENIX, Ariz., Sept. 20.—(AP) —Dynamite has shattered the quiet Salt River Valley has enjoyed since white farmers recently withdrew their demand that Japanese and Hindus evacuate their lands.

Three bombs were hurled on Japanese farms yesterday. Twenty acres of farmland were inundated when the explosion tore out an irrigation dam. The home of R. Sugino was slightly damaged in another blast. In all three cases, dynamite was set off in irrigation ditches near the homes of Japanese farmers.

N e was injured but the Rev. nro Kashitani, Japanese leader, demanded protection of "life and property of Japanese" in the valley. Anti-oriental agitation has "gone too far," he said in protesting to Consul General Tonokazu Hori in Los Angeles.

"I am relying entirely upon the good faith and justice of the American people and on Gov. Moeur of Arizona to see that the Japanese in the Salt River Valley are treated fairly," the consul general said in announcing had made no protest to Wash ton or Tokyo.

Previously the Arizona governor indicated he would act sternif white agricultur ts resortto violence in their efforts to orientals from

Matchmaker Not Responsible For Marital Bliss

DECATUR, Sept. 20.—(AP)—A matchmaker can start a couple to the altar but he can't guarantee marital bliss.

So a Parker county farmer gets to keep the mule he received from a Wise county man for services rendered as a matrimonial agent.

In a suit tried at Boyd, the husband demanded the return of the mule he had given the farmer in return for an introduction to the lady.

He alleged that the union had not been satisfactory and thought he ought to have his mule back.

The jury, however, decided the matchmaker had done all that could be expected of him and therefore was entitled to keep the mule.

Attorneys for the matchmaker pointed out, just by way of showing their client had not been overpaid, that said mule was "an ordinary, cantankerous" beast.

CLAIMED DYNAMITE WAS FOUND BENEATH DOCKS AT HOUSTON

ALLEGED APPARENT ATTEMPT DESTROY MORGAN LINE DOCKS FRUSTRATED

HOUSTON, Sept. 20.—(AP)—An attempt to destroy the Morgan Line docks on the Houston ship channel was foiled late yesterday when special officers for the steamship line found a tremendous store of dynamite placed beneath the docks, and connected to a hot shot battery and an alarm clock.

A special officer for the Morgan line found the cache of dynamite. He and other investigators broke the connections with the battery and the timing mechanism and removed the dynamite, totaling 319 pounds.

One theory advanced by authorities was that the attempt to wreck the steamship terminal was connected with he various attempts to destroy vessels.

Guards were placed about the explosive during the night, and steps to destroy it were made today.

Meanwhile, the entire Morgan line terminal was being searched in an effort to learn if any other caches of explosives had been placed there.

Four vessels in the gulf and Caribbean trade, including the ill-fated Morro Castle, hav caught fire while at sea durin the past two weeks.

The dynamite was of sixty cent nitro glycerine

ASSISTANT RADIO OPERATOR OF MORRO CASTLE TELLS STORY

CLAIMS FIVE TRIPS TO BRIDGE NECESSARY BEFORE S.O.S. SENT OUT

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—(AP)— The federal board investigating the Morro Castle disaster today heard first assistant radio operator George I. Alagna charge that Acting Captain W. F. Warms ordered an SOS sent from the burning ship only after "strong pleading" on Alagna's fifth trip to the ship's bridge for instructions.

Alagna described conditions on the bridge as "unintelligible and confused." He said Capt. Warms "just kept pacing" and he had to follow him about and then doubted if the captain recognized him.

The man at the wheel, Alagna testified, just turned the wheel around and around as though it was out of order and that by the time he had made his fourth trip to the bridge, the wheel had

Police Claim Man Who Received $50,000 For Baby's Return Is Held

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Police announced they have in custody the man who received $50,000 som money paid by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh in a effectual effort to recover his kidnaped son two years ago.

The man is Bernard Richard Hauptmann, of 1279 East 222nd street, the Bronx.

The announcement said the man is an alien and came to this country as a stowaway eleven years ago.

The brief police announcement contained no further details, but the air at the Greenwich street police station; where the announcement was made, was surcharged with rumors.

The announcement said:

"We have in custody the man who received the ransom money. He is Bernard Richard Hauptmann, of 1279 East 222nd street the Bronx. He is an alie came to this country as away eleven years ago."

One of the reports, unco ed, said that Hauptmann a time ago paid for some ga at a Bronx filling station w $10 gold certificate.

The proprietor became cious at the use of the ba money and notified police. The report said that the man had an automobile which was found to have been stolen in New Jersey, near Lakewood, the night before the Lindbergh baby was kidnaped March 1, 1932.

Officials Questioned.

After the formal announcement, Commissioner O'Ryan, Col. Norman Schwarzkopf, superint of Jersey state police, In Lyons, Lieut. James Finn, Edgar Hoover, head of the of investigation of the depa of justice, came into the h room of the station and s the dias for questioning.

O'Ryan after re-reading the nouncement of the arrest said:

"We have the ransom mone found on the premises of th man, and we will allow it to photographed."

"How much of the money h you recovered from Hauptmann a reporter asked O'Ryan.

Thirteen thousand, seven hundr and fifty dollars, in $10 and bills," O'Ryan replied.

"How many people have you custody?'

"One at the moment,' said O'Ryan.

'What is his nationality?"

"German," O'Ryan said.

Believed German Writer.

It was recalled that the writer of fourteen ransom notes recei ed by Lindbergth was believe by handwriting experts to have been of German extraction.

"When was the first of the ransom bills recovered by the authorities?"

"This was two weeks after the ransom money was paid that the first bill was passed," O'Ryan said.

"Where was the money found?"

"In the garage of Hauptmann's home.'

"Can you tell us any details o the trip up?"

"I will give you the details later today at police headquarters, or possibly tomorrow," O'Ryan said.

"Do you believe Hauptmann kidnaped the Lindbergh baby?" reporters asked.

Will Clear Up Case.

"I have no comment at this time," O'Ryan replied.

"In your opinion," a reporter asked, "does this solve the Lindbergh kidnaping?"

O'Ryan conferred for a moment with officials and then replied:

"Yes, it will."

Asked whether any specific chargo had been made against Hauptmann ,the commissioner said the investigation has not been concluded on this man.

"He has not been booked."

"Has he been seen by D don?" (Jaffsie).

Another Step In Press Censorship Urged by Texan

WICHITA FALLS, Sept. 20.—(AP) —Jesse Martin, Fort Worth district attorney, proposed today that a law be passed forbidding newspapers and radio stations from revealing activities of officers in felony cases where the accused is still a fugitive.

Martin expressed friendship for the press in an address before the North Texas and Southern Oklahoma Peace Officers' Association and asserted he had no criticism of publishing policies in the past but declared that publicity given activities of officers hunting criminals had been the greatest deterrent to prompt administration of punitive justice in such cases.

"Competition has demanded that each paper keep the public fully informed on your efforts to bring criminals to justice," he said, "but if we can pass a law making it a criminal offense to publish any information about activities of peace officers while the accused is still a fugitive from justice, then we shall have removed the biggest single handicap with which you are now faced in outwitting the criminal."

The association applauded the statement but took no action.

BILL TO REMIT PENALTIES ON DELINQUENT TAXES SHUNTED TO SENATE SUB-COMMITTEE TODAY

AUSTN, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Legislation to provide relief for delinquent property tax payers was a preliminary notch farther removed from floor consideration in the Texas senate today while conferees from houses of the Texas legislature labored over a mass of minor variances in bills to issue additional relief bonds.

The Pope house bill to remit penalties and interest on taxes delinquent August 1 last was consigned to a sub-committee of the senate state affairs committee after city and county officials strongly protested mandatory provisions featured in it. The subcommittee was instructed to make haste in considering numerous amendments proposing modification of several provisions of the gill which passed the house after a bitter struggle.

Five working days remain in the current session, convened primarily to authorize sale of state relief securities to feed and clothe Texas' destitute through winter months.

Conferees representing the house and senate agreed on issuance of $6,000,000 of bonds, proceds to be budgeted to last through next February, but faced many tedious hours more of discussion in adjsting numerous minor differences. Senator J. W. E. H. Beck of DeKalb, chairman of the conference, hoped to complete a bill by Saturday.

Conferees planned to hear morrow night recommen of a prominent bond attor provisions affecting the ity of the securities. Oth ters yet to be decided, wh voked d in prelim

CLAIMED GOVERNMENT HAS LEGAL RIGHT TO CONTROL OIL FIELDS

COMMITTEE GIVEN ADVICE BY OIL ADMINISTRATION'S RANKING LEGAL MIND

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—(AP)— The oil administration's ranking legal authority told a house committee today that federal control of petroleum production as sought by Secretary Ickes would be upheld in the courts.

The committee, headed by Representative Cole (D-Md.) is investigating to determine whether control legislation is necessary and whether it would be valid.

Nathan R. Margold, chief of the petroleum administrative board and solicitor for the interior department, contended there was no doubt the government had the power, both under the commerce and national defense constitutional clauses, to restrict production within the states.

Margold said a finding by congress that control of production, in the interest of conservation, was necessary in the national defense would hold "great weight" with the supreme court.

To a remark by one member of the committee that war was neither at hand nor imminent, Margold ess was not for defense ited that

MUCHLY TRAVELED HITCH-HIKER

(Editor's Note—Advice to autoists embraced in this article is based on the experiences and observations of the writer who has travelled more than 25,000 miles in 41 states via the hitch-hike method. He passed almost two-score years in the city rooms of large dailies and visited Corsicana on his way to San Antonio, his present home.)

By W. E. BURBANK

(Veteran Newspaper Man)

"Perhaps you're one of those hold-up men but I'll take a chance because I haven't got any money and this old car isn't worth anything," a motorist said as he stopped to give me a lift towards Corsicana the other day.

Another driver commented "Gee, you must carry a lucky rabbit's foot." When I asked him "How come?" he replied that I was the first person he had stopped to pick up for more than a year and thought I must have some mystic charm, or other.

These incidents illustrate the fear which exists on the part of autoists and why it has become so difficult to obtain a ride by the hitch-hike method. Because of the difficulty in stopping cars that army of rovers which invaded the highways shortly after the inception of the economic crisis in 1929 is disappearing rapidly in retreat before the campaign being waged to eliminate them altogether.

Feeling of Fear.

There is every reason why pleasant relations should exist between men driving cars and those more unfortunate who are bumming their way but so many holdups assaults and fatalities have been committed allegedly by hitch-hikers whatever confidence used to exist has been shattered. This attitude on the part of motorists is not surprising—this feeling of fear which is admitted.

Corsicana motorists should exercise the greatest precaution in stopping to pick up strangers, if they are inclined to practice that habit at all. In these strange and hectic times it is dangerous to let y man or woman trying to flag step into a car until they een questioned as to their ns, their destination and r they have any dangerous s in their possession. Play and then it will be possible to ride along with a feeling of security.

Thousands of motorists in this vicinity ordinarily like to be good Samatarians all right, but are afraid to do so and who can blame them? Located as it is on the main line of traffic between Dallas and Houston, this city gets a host of those wanderers coming down from the Northern states at present to escape what has been predicted will be a long, cold winter in the wake of one of the most torrid summers ever known.

Unquestionably 999 out of every 1,000 unemployed persons now hitting the road are honest and ls and is is that one bad n the lot to watch for. the majority of drivers ke no chances in picking wrong chap. It certainly possible to judge any man man approaching them on ighways, and picking them etily is what I condemn, al- h I'm a hitch-hiker myself make my living that way.

Every automobile club in the United States and the Automobile Association of America advises against helping hitch-hikers at all and insurance companies embody a clause in their policies forbidding the practice by their clients. In case of accidents "passengers" could sue and win big verdicts in rts as has been proven in hich have gone to trial in t parts of the country.

Danger is Great.

a few experiences which ad I know that the dangreat in picking up stranat random. On the other anyone who steps into a with strangers, also is run a great risk. From the point of the "thumb-jerker" r she doesn't know what sort person may be stopping to that desired lift. Per- the driver may be fleeing the scene of some crime, an aped felon or one criminally lined and lead his fare into manner of unpleasant complications.

ently a friend of mine was ked up by three men on a ghway crossing Northern Texas d they drove off on a side road, topped and took a valuable kit tools and $72 from him, then eft him to get out of the mess as est he could.

Rides With Robbers.

While traveling between Omaha nd Kansas City a few weeks ago car stopped for me and I took rear seat beside a dapper young man, as two attractive young women were on the driver's seat. When we came to the first cross road they dropped me, stating they were turning east. It didn't take me long to hail another ride and upon reaching Braddyville on the Iowa-Missouri state line, everything was in a hub-bub and several motorists greatly excited.

It developed that word had just been received by telephone from Elkton, a small town west of the main highway, of the hold up and robbery of a bank there by a young man who escaped with $500 in an automobile driven by two young women. It unquestionably was the car in which I had been riding a few minutes before. Had I been arrested in their company it would have been just too bad, I'll say.

Another time I rode with a young man driving an expensive limousine from Texarkana to Dallas. He did not permit any car to pass us and flew by all cars we overtook and neither of us spoke hardly a word during the 169 mile trip.

"You Can Have Car."

When we reached Dallas he stopped in front of a pretentious home in the nice residential part of the city and said, "Well Buddy, this is far as I go." That was okey with me, and thanking him for the ride, I started down the street. He walked along with me and at the first corner said, as he turned, "You can have that car, if you want it. It don't belong to me." Of course I hot-footed it in another direction, and read a few days later of his arrest in West Texas on the charge of stealing an automobile in Mississippi. So, it may be seen, hitch-hikers take a chance, too.

Women Are Dangerous.

Women are as dangerous to pick up as men as has been proven time and time again by events which have transpired along the highways. They are apt to be working some sort of a badger game or engage in various schemes to embarrass motorists.

One day a driver, who was a traveling salesman, refused to carry me to the next town when I asked him at a filling station, claiming that his concern did not permit him to carry passengers. That was okeh with me, but a short distance down the road he stopped and picked up two girls who had been trying to get a ride for a long time.

If that man was looking for a kick out of having the company of two pretty misses, he got it, sure enough, because they made him stop the car and took his money, his watch and a diamond scarf pin and then told him to go on and keep his mouth shut or they'd call the law and accuse him of attempting to assault them. He drove back to borrow some "gas" from the filling station where I was waiting.

Trick the Hikers.

Another type of nuisances has appeared on Texas highways. They are drivers who stop for every hitch-hiker they see and offer to carry them on their way if they'll buy five gallons of gas as they are broke and can't get any money until they reach Houston or San Antonio or some other city ahead. All hitch-hikers are not broke, by any means, and many fall for the trick. After proceeding a ways the grafter wants oil.

One neat appearing young man with whom I talked while trying to get a ride towards Corsicana, told me he recently had completed a sentence of two years in the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth and another boastfully displayed a revolver with the aside, "I'm going to eat and sleep anyway, but never will harm an autoist willing to help me along." That's a guess whether he would or not. It's that type of characters that are to be guarded against and why I advise taking a little time to ascertain if a stranger bumming his way is a safe risk or not.

It's all right to help the right ones and is appreciated by them, I'm sure, but I say, PLAY SAFE.

MOST UNUSUAL AND ECONOMICAL KITCHEN BETTERMENT SHOWN

One of the most unusual and economical kitchen betterment examples ever seen in Navarro county is related by Miss Ruth McNabb, home demonstration agent, as done by Mrs. Marvin North of the Stansell community, when her kitchen was renovated.

Mrs. North is the pantry demonstrator for the Stansell club.

Procuring 12 apple boxes from a store, Mrs. North purchased 26 cents worth of meat wrapping paper and after preparing the 12 boxes into an atractive pantry, took the remainder of the material and papered her kitchen. Oil cloth to harmonize with the paper was used in the cabinet and on the table. Old oil cloth which had been discarded was used for canvas on the walls an the ceiling was painted with left-over paint at the home.

Miss McNabb said that this was an exceptionally attractive kitchen at nominal cost.

Services Sunday At Lone Oak Cumberland Presbyterian Church

In addition to the regular Sunday school and Christian Endeavor services Sunday at thet Lone Oak Cumberland Presbyterian church, there will be preaching both hours —11 a. m. and 7:30 p.m.

All are cordially yinvited to worship with us in these services, and the pastor especially wishes a full attendance of members at the morning hour as he has an interesting report of Presbytery to make, and plans for the Fifth Presbyterial rally here September 30th.

Y. P. E. U. Met With The Eleventh Avenue Methodist Church

The Young People's Epworth Union met Tuesday night, September 18, at the Eleventh Avenue Methodist church with some thirty-odd young people attending.

The devotional program presented by Miss Annie Mary Pierce of First Church was as follows:

Song: "How Firm a Foundation."

Special reading by leader, and also the prayer by the leader.

Piano solo by Miss Georgia Ruth Pollock.

"Dare We Be Christians" was the main topic given by Miss Pierce. Every young person that was present ,and heard this wonderful talk undoubtedly were inspired always to be Christians.

Song: "Onward Christian Soldiers."

The devotional service was dismissed by the league benediction. Rev. Bernard McCord took charge of the business session as none of the officers were present. During the business session Miss Geraldine Hayes' resignation was accepted, and Miss Josephine d'Orsay was elected to fill her place as secretary of the union by a slight margin of votes over Miss Nellie Frances Inmon. The dismissal prayer was given by Rev. J. F. Adams.

At the close of the session all enjoyed the play period which followed the business session, and after the entertainment light refreshments were served. The union then was dismissed until the next monthly meeting at which time First Church will act as host.

WOLENS WILL OPEN DEPARTMENT STORE IN BRYAN AT ONCE

The fourteenth unit of the K. Wolens department store organization will be opened in the near future in Bryan, it was announced Tuesday morning by Jay A. Silverberg, an official of the company. With the opening of this store, the organization will have a full retail coverage of Central and East Texas.

A lease has been taken on a store building 25 feet by 100 feet on the main street of Bryan, and will be occupied as soon as remodeling has been completed. It is planned to install a new front, which will be modern in every way, and also to install new and modern fixtures. A complete line of merchandise carried in all the other K. Wolens stores will be handled.

Mr. Silverberg said that the manager of the new store will be taken from the present organization and between 10 and 12 clerks will be employed at the new store.

Remodeling will begin immediately.

CALLS INCREASE AT UNITED CHARITIES DUE COOL WEATHER

Miss Augusta Helm, United Charities secretary, said Wednesday morning that with the first cool spell this week that their number of calls had increased considerably but that fortunately the association was able to take care of the demands. She said their calls had been more varied than usual.

At the present time, according to the secretary, the United Charities is fairly well stocked with warm winter clothing, they have a new supply of wood, and the outlook is good despite the fact that a severe winter is anticipated. Miss Helm also said that in addition to the clothing and wood, during the winter months her organization will have a supply of canned fruits and vegetables for the city's indigent persons.

Miss Helm related to the newspaper reported several instances of persons wanting to be outfitted for the winter, but who would not take the things until they had done chores around the office to pay for them. The secretary said she believes the United Charities will have a deserving and appreciative clientele this winter.

Tom Mix, Tony and Circus Ridin' Our Way for Wednesday, October 3

Tom Mix, the acknowledged greatest Westsrn star of the films, is ridin' toward Corsicana in person—high in the saddle on his famous mount, Tony, and thundering along at the head of Sam B. Dill's big and highly popular thre ring circus, which wheels into town for afternoon and night performances on Wednesday, Oct. 3, for performances on the showgrounds adjoining old ball park.

The celebrated screen star is bringing a full-fledged Wild West show, made up chiefly of a congress of hair-raising, riding and roping cowpunchers, who appeared with him in his world popular motion pictures, and a carefully chosen $100,000 herd of the renowned Tom Mix thoroughbred horses.

Both the noble Tony, Sr., and his talented offspring, Tony, Jr., whom Mix rode in several of his recent talking pictures, will be on hand in Corsicana.

Angered Posses Seeking Killer of Wealthy Farmer

DECATUR, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Three men were held in the county jail at noon today for questioning concerning the slaying of Joe Pickens, 75-year-old wealthy farmer.

Officers declined to say where they captured the suspects. No charges were filed against them immediately.

POOLVILLE, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Angered posses pressed through this section today in a hunt for a man who early today shot and killed Joe Pickens, 75-year-old wealthy farmer and landowner as he lay asleep in a room with his wife and two daughters.

The men, masked, entered the home shortly after midnight, waved a pistol at Pickens and said:

"I want your money."

The aged man was shot to death as he lay in bed. The man fled without his loot. The two daughters ran from the house to a filling station a mile and a half away on Highway 34 and notified Sheriff Dodgett of the slaying.

Officers from nearby counties rushed to the farm and organized posses that searched throughout the night for the killer.

Using flashlights, posses of officers from Parker, Wise and Jack counties early today trailed the slayer to the vicinity of Boneville where the trail was lost.

The officers were conducting a thorough search of the area. They were certain the man was traveling by foot and that he had not yet ventured on the open highways.

Headless Body Of Young Woman Found Thursday

HIGHLAND PARK, Ill., Sept. 20.—(AP)—The headless body of a girl about 22 years old was found today in a copse near Sheridan road in Ravinia, fashionable North Shore suburb of Chicago.

With its discovery, Highland Park police disclosed that a girl's head had been found last Aug. 12 in the same vicinity. They had kept the gruesome find a secret until today.

The body was clad in a brown silk dress and walking shoes. There was little to facilitate identification, and the police of this suburban region had no reports of a missing girl in recent months.

John Robinson Died In Valley View

Stop Chills and Fever!
Rid Your System of Malaria!

Shivering with chills one moment and burning with fever the next—that's one of the effects of Malaria. Unless checked the disease will do serious harm to your health. Malaria, a blood infection, calls for two things. First, destroying the infection in the blood. Second, building up the blood to overcome the effects of the disease and to fortify against further attack.

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic supplies both these effects. It contains tasteless quinine, which kills the infection in the blood, and iron, which enriches and builds up the blood. Chills and fever soon stop and you are restored to health and comfort. For half a century, Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic has been sure relief for Malaria. It is just as useful, too, as a general tonic for old and young. Pleasant to take and absolutely harmless. Safe to give children. Get a bottle at any store. Now two sizes—50c and $1. The $1 size contains 2½ times as much as the 50c size and gives you 25% more for your money.

"NONSENSE" SAYS DR. HANS LUTHER OF MUNITIONS DEAL

AMBASSADOR MADE DENIAL TO NEWSPAPER MEN AFTER HULL CONFERENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Dr. Hans Luther, the German ambassador, today described as "nonsense" allegations that Germany was buying military airplanes and war munitions in this country.

The ambassador made his denial to newspapermen after an hour's conference with Secretary of State Hull, but declined to say whether he had made any protest or representations to Hull.

Asked specifically whether he had discussed allegations that American munitions and airplane firms were assisting in rearming Germany in violation of the Versailles treaty—as alleged before the senate munitions committee—Luther replied they had discussed "everything under the sun" concerning German-American relations.

Meanwhile, the committee was hearing that the Japanese government sought through commercial concerns to keep abreast of American inventions by obtaining patent numbers and copying the patents at the patent office.

Other testimony told of huge munitions sales to Cuba during the first six months of this year and of the representation in Hawaii of a munitions firm by Colonel P. W. Smoot, the adjutant general.

Acted as Agent.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—(AP)—The senate munitions committee was told today that Colonel P. M. Smoot, adjutant general of Hawaii, during the last two years had acted as agent there for the Thompson machine gun and a gas bomb concern.

The testimony was presented shortly after the committee had been informed that Mrs. Patricia Kendall, an English author, described as socially prominent, had acted as agent for Federal Laboratories in India to help promote the sale of tear gas bombs there. Her services were described as voluntary and she received no pay.

Letters exchanged between J. W. Young, president of Federal Laboratories, and W. B. Ryan, Jr., head of the Auto Ordnance corporation, disclosed Smoot connection.

Other testimony presented ught out that Federal Laboories had sold more than $400,- worth of tear and nauseating es, riot guns and similar ipment to the Cuban government during the first six months this year.

Rail Commission Tells Of Amount Hot Oil E. Texas

KILGORE, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Hot oil runs to East Texas refinery stills for the week ending Sept. 17 amounted to approximately 70,000 barrels daily, according to figures of the refinery department of the East Texas division of the state railroad commission.

The total runs to stills were 483,976 barrels, a daily average receiving approximately 20,000 barrels of tendered oil daily, that would represent runs of 49,139 barrels of hot oil to stills on a daily average.

The runs for the week were an increase of 51,934 barrels, a daily average of 7,419 barrels, over the precedin week when runs to stills were 432,044 barrels, a daily average of 61,720 barrels.

Fifty-six plants operated last week, 24 were shut down and two were under construction. The previous week 49 operated, 34 were shut down and three were under construction.

Big Crowd Expected Attend Lewis-Londos Championship Match

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Promised a real "shooting match," a crowd of 30,000 is expected at Wrigley Field tonight, weather permitting, to watch 43-year-old Ed (Strangler) Lewis attempt to take the world's heavyweight wrestling championship from Jim Londos of Greece.

The match, sponsored by the Chicago Tribune, is supported by another wrestling event and four boxing battles, including a 10-round skirmish between King Levinsky and Art Eykes, Elmira, N. Y., heavyweight.

In event of inclement weather, a strong probability, the show will be held tomorrow night.

Many Japanese Naval Planes Go Aid Manchukuo

TOKYO, Sept. 20.—(AP)—A successful flight of 78 Japanese military airplanes across the 450 miles of space from Darien to Hsinking, Manchukuo, was reported today by the Hsinking correspondent of the newspaper Asahi.

The fleet was in Hsinking at 3:35 p. m. today after overcoming head winds which spoiled their formation but did not interfere with the success of the movement

The head winds caused 21 of the ships to run low on fuel and land at Liaoyang, where they refueled and caught up with the advance part of the fleet.

The mass maneuver was made shortly after Manchoukuo sent a protest to Soviet Russia.

An official denial was made here that the planes were sent as a result of the difficulties with the Soviet. Instead, it was said, the action was a gesture of friendship and congratulation to Emperor Kang Teh of Manchukuo upon his enthronement — which took place March 1.

The planes have been stationed with the combined fleet, now engaged in annual maneuvers off Darien, southern Manchukuo.

A Harbin dispatch to the newspaper Asahi today said Manchuluo protested to the Soviet consul-general at Harbin, alleging Russians had occupied an island at the confluence of the Amur and Assuri rivers. Manchukuo claims this territory as her own.

The protest charged Manchukuoans had been expelled and that the Soviets immediately set to work digging trenches and bringing in munitions.

RAIL COMMISSION CRITICIZED DURING DEBATE IN HOUSE

RESOLUTION PROPOSING INVESTIGATION IN EAST TEXAS FIELD DISCUSSED

AUSTIN, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Opposition to the Texas Railroad Commission as the oil and gas conservation authority flared again in the Texas legislature today as the house debated a resolution proposing investigation of conditions in the East Texas oil field by a special legislative committee.

No decision had been reached on the resolution at noon.

"The railroad commission is not doing anything and is not getting anywhere," Representative John Mathis, Sr., of Houston asserted.

"The railorad commission has not been functioning and hasn't been able to cope with the situation. This legislature should determine if the fault is in the railroad commission, county law enforcement officials or in the laws so the next legislature can remedy the defects."

The threats of federal control of the oil industry was prominently mentioned in debate, supporters of the resolution contending the national government would assume charge of Texas oil industries unless the state acted promptly.

The resolution stated it is "a matter of common knowledge that there is a continuous, wholesale and flagrant violation of all oil proration laws in the East Texas fields, which constitutes a constant menace to the entire oil industry and which will eventually lead to federal control. It has been represented that prosecuting officials of Gregg county and other counties are either refusing or failing to presecute offenders under existing criminal statutes and are countenancing the most flagrant character of violations daily."

An amendment to strike out authority of the committee to institute quo warranto proceedings against officials failing to do their duty was defeated.

A movement was reported under way to remove the railroad commission and replace it with a natural resources commission. Reports that Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson would convene the legislature in another special session immediately to set up a new oil and gas board, recurred with frequency today. One hundred and four members have pledged to support the bill, Representative James of Cameron said. James planned to confer with the governor on the proposal.

Stars In Girl From Missouri

"The Girl from Missouri," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture that opens with a midnight show at the Palace Saturday night and runs through Tuesday, brings Jean Harlow back to the screen after an absence of eight months.

In her new starring vehicle, the popular Miss Harlow essays one of her most amusing characterizations, that of Eadie Chapman, a girl who embarks upon a social climbing career because she is determined to get financial security and position along with her marriage ring.

The picture flits with lightning rapidity from swanky penthouses of New York's ragged skyline to the pleasure palaces of Florida and back again.

Lionel Barrymore, dean of stage and screen, shares honors with Miss Harlow in the role of the exceedingly wealthy T. R. Paige, a national political power. It is the second time that Miss Harlow and Barymore have played together.

Franchot Tone, too, makes his second appearance with Miss Harlow. His first was in 'Blonde Bombshell." In "The Girl from Missouri" he plays the son of Barrymore who falls madly in love with Eadie.

Additional humor is supplied by Patsy Kelly, popular New York stage comedienne who has been featured in eight sort comedies and with Marion Davis in 'Going Hollywood.'

THREE NATIONS IN OPPOSITION WHILE THIRTY-NINE FAVOR

PACKED ASSEMBLY HALL IMPORTANT STEP IN THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS

GENEVA, Sept. 18.—(AP)—The League of Nations assembly officially voted Russia into the membership today and Maxim Litvinoff, Russian commissar of foreign affairs, told the assembled delegates that Russia was entering the league as a representative of a new social system which would renounce none of its attributes.

The Russian diplomat praised his nation as a kind of league of nations by itself since it includes 200 nationalities "who co-exist in peace while enjoying their own cultures and languages."

The Russian envoy had been invited to the rostrum by Richard Sandler of Sweden, president of the assembly, who welcomed the Soviet Union "into the great family of nations" and appealed to Russia to assist the betterment of the world.

Litvinoff was applauded mildly when he mounted the rostrum.

The vote on the admission of Russia was 39 in favor, 3 in opposition and 7 not voting.

The election took place before a packed assembly hall which had taken on a gala atmosphere for the occasion.

Prior to the admittance of the public, Swiss detectives and under officials of the league scrupulously examined the building, then took up posts where they could scan all the entrances into the hall.

Another big crowd assembled at the Quai Mont Blanc, before the hotel where Maxim Litvinoff Russian foreign commissar, was expected to stay. Detectives there kept the crowd moving along the sidewalk although they did not interfere with the masses along the lake close by.

Communist placards distributed in Geneva welcomed Soviet Russia into the League of Nations as the assembly prepared today to admit her formally into the international family.

The signs, pasted on windows of many stores during the night, said: "Welcome to the Union of Socialist Soviet Republicans, which Brings Us Peace."

Leon Nicole, head of the Socialist Geneva government, issued an order to police to interfere no longer with persons wearing red caps.

The action of the league's political committee in recommending Russia for entrance clinched matters yesterday but the assembly must make a formal vote. The Netherlands, Portugal and Switzerland voted against a favorable report.

Giuseppe Motto, who vigorously attacked Russia on behalf of Switzerland, indicated to newspapermen afterward that he is hostile to any movement for his country to resign from the league as it would mean Switzerland would fall into isolation.

NOTICE

The policy of the Corsicana Daily Sun and Semi-Weekly Morning Light of publishing obituary sketches without cost will be discontinued immediately. In the future all such matter will be published at regular advertising rates. Practically every paper in the state has charged for such notices for a number of years and the Sun and Light are among the last to adopt such a policy.

Economic conditions, shorter working hours in the mechanical department and increased costs of production cause the publishers to take this step.

PLENTY OF OIL

The future of the petroleum industry is unlimited, and all the oil taken from the earth since this industry was born in 1858 is "but a teaspoonful" compared with the available supply. This was the cheering message brought to the 88th meeting of the American Chemical Society by Dr. Gustav Egloff of Chicago. It will reassure the oil industry, the motor industry and millions of consumers of the most wonderful fuel in the world.

Producers are finding new supplies at depths never attainable before. They are getting far more gasoline and other useful products from a given quantity of crude oil. And so far we have been using only the underground "pools," of which we have 60 per cent of the world's known supply. Petroleum can also be obtained from coal and oil shale, of which we have vast deposits. The oil available from these known sources alone, says Dr. Egloff, would supply the world's needs for 2,000 years.

Maybe so. Nobody wants to be pessimistic about a thing like this. But it is just as well to remember two things which the expert quoted may not have taken into consideration when he did his figuring. One is the very rapid increase in the world's demand for petroleum, which might require hundreds of times the present output in a few decades or centuries. The other is that oil from coal and shale will cost more to produce. Mankind will miss this liquid fuel when it's gone.

And here's another thing for the petroleum industry to think about—as it often does. Its worst troubles have always come not from production difficulties, but from over-production.

FORESTRY MUSTARD PLASTERS

The United States Forest Service is planting mustard seed on 3,000 acres of forest and brush land in the Arroyo Seco watershed region in Southern California which was badly burned over in forest fires late in July. The purpose is to prevent flood and erosion and to speed the revegetation of the land.

Mustard, it has been found, is a weed which roots quickly and grows rapidly even under highly unfavorable conditions. The sooner some vegetation takes root in a burned over area, the sooner soil erosion by wind and flood will be checked. Man can assist the process by setting out trees. But these are such slow methods that, when there has been a very serious burning, much soil may be carried away and the character of the region altered before they are well started. It is hoped that the "mustard plaster" will provide an emergency remedy, protecting the soil until the other measures can be started."

"If I wanted to borrow money," says W. C. Fields, humorist, "I should go to the fellow who lacks a sense of humor." But, considering the times, wouldn't that make the fellow laugh, and thus restore his sense of humor and so make him a poor prospect for a touch.

ZINNIAS

Somehow the zinnias seem to be
The rugged garden friends
Whose favor asks no flattery
Or on no whim depends.

One must be careful with the rose
And watch it day by day
If but the merest slight it knows
'Tis apt to droop away.

And there are friendships delicate
Requiring constant care
So sensitive to hurt, they wait
To find it everywhere.

Since at a nod they suffer pain
And at a word they weep
Their trust is difficult to gain
And difficult to keep.

But zinnias all the summer through
Self pity seem to shun
And blossom every day anew
Until the year is done.

COMMON COLDS AT THE SOUTH POLE

When an epidemic of common colds broke out recently in Little America, the doctors were puzzled. The Antarctic is a germless region, so far as anyone knows. Since the men had already been there many weeks without colds it did not seem likely they had given them to each other. How, then, could the epidemic start?

Finally one of the medical men remembered that a box of clothes had been opened in one of the buildings not long before. The germs may have been lurking there only to be spread around as the clothing was handled and used.

This may not be the explanation. The common cold remains, after much research, one of the diseases baffling medical science. Doctors have discovered how cold may be avoided by keeping up the general health. They have learned how to prevent some of the possible serious after-effects of a cold. But they do not yet agree on the exact cause, and they have not any universal cure. If a cold gets a good start, it seems to run its course with more or less virulence, regardless of treatment.

Let's hope the men of the Byrd expedition haven't carried colds to the penguins.

CREDITOR AND DEBTOR

In private life we know that if we owe somebody some money we have to earn some ourselves in order to pay that debt. We have to sell our service or skill or some product we have created. We cannot borrow indefinitely; we cannot continue going in debt.

As a nation we have not yet learned that simple truth. We have become a creditor nation, and the foreign governments or people who owe us money must sell goods in order to pay those debts. We were a debtor nation so recently, as history goes, that we still have the debtor idea—that it is to our advantage to sell more than we buy, to have always an export surplus.

It can't be done. It is ourselves we injure in the long run when we hold to this theory, for it will eventually force the writing off of a large volume of foreign debts and set us back in other ways besides.

APPLIED INTELLIGENCE

An electrical device, called "robot" by the headline writer, now eliminates the tedious task of testing telephone receivers and transmitters by means of human mouths and ears. The electrical ear responds to sounds, as the human ear would do when listening at the telephone, but instead of carrying impulses to the brain the mechanical ear transmits them to measuring and recording instruments. The elecrical mouth produces the intonation, naturalness, articulation, sibilance and other characteristic qualities of human speech, in order to test telephone transmitters.

Such inventions seem almost magical to the uninitiated. Yet they are devised by human understanding and intelligence applied to previously acquired facts and knowledge. The same understanding and knowledge applied with constructive good will, might solve social and economic problems as the engineers solve the mechanical ones.

A NEIGHBOR'S PROBLEMS

News from across our northern border is interesting. Here is a small piece about rioting in Guelph, Ontario. It was a clash between striking and non-striking employees of certain cloak companies. It surprises us because we had thought Canadians didn't go in for violence of this sort. They don't. This was the first strike violence of the city's industrial history.

The other items tell of plans dealing with drought problems. The two provinces hardest hit by the drought ask the Dominion government to finance cattle buying, the stock to be slaughtered and processed, some of it as dessicated meat for hog feeding. In one province there are farmers who have had no crop for five years. There is a plan for buying their best remaining livestock and selling it to farmers in prosperous districts. There is another plan to move drouth victims—humans and livestock together—to more favorable areas.

Again one reads that the Ontario government is going to war on the high cost of loans to the government. Business men, too, are complaining that banks have refused them loans even when security was ample. There is even a group of "new economists" talking inflation and monetary reform.

All of which is interesting primarily as showing us that we are not alone in our problems, our experiments and our disagreement as to solutions.

COY CAPITAL

With ample man power and abundant natural resources, peace, intelligence, tools and wealth at hand in America, there remains only lack of confidence to impede complete recovery. Quite evidently the patient cannot recuperate by continuous injections of federal aid into his veins. There must be an inflow from private capital.

Private capital is plentiful, but it wants assurances that the corner has been turned. It fears, or at least is not comfortable about, codes and price fixing and hour shortenings. It finds itself bewildered by new things it does not understand.

Clarification of present methods and future plans so that the fogs might be lifted from the minds of capital and labor both would help much to restore the needed confidence.

BOOKS FOR BOOK-LOVERS

"I doubt if there will be any novels or story books printed or read much 100 years from now," said Booth Tarkington to an interviewer.

People even now are turning away from books, he believes, to the automobile and the radio. They haven't time for leisurely reading and discussion. The young people will not sit still long enough to take a canoe ride. They prefer the speed boat. They want to go somewhere.

"A century from now no one will take time to sit down and read a book for amusement. There will be no printed fiction stories. Radio and television will have supplanted the printed page. A man or woman in his home who wishes to be entertained by the movement and conversation of imaginary persons in a story plot will be able to touch a button, and a moving, talking picture of the whole story will be unfolded before him."

In some ways that is a pleasant prospect. It presents one disadvantage to a thoughtful booklover, however. In reading a good piece of literature, whether it be a novel, drama, poem, or some other work, reader and author co-operate. If the reader wishes, he may pause at any time to add his own thought to that of the author. His own imagination may play about with the creatures of the author's imagination. Their thoughts enrich each other. The television story moves too swiftly for leisurely savoring. Books will probably be kept alive by those who want from them more than amusement and time-killing.

THE CASTLE OF THE CALIPH

The castle at Adana, it is said, northeast of Tarsus, in southern Turkey, dates back to the year 782 and was built by Haroun Al Raschid, the famous caliph who went around in disguise at night to see whether his kingdom was being properly administered. Abuses he found at night he corrected in the daytime, good deeds perceived were rewarded. His greatness and wisdom were celebrated in the "Arabian Nights."

It is most interesting to find his castle still standing. But isn't it about time it had a renovizing loan?

New Mexia Field To Be Dedicated At IOOF Contest

MEXIA, Sept. 19.—(Spl.)—One of the finest athletic fields in Texas will be the scene of the opening game of football Friday night when the Mexia high school Black Cats play the Odd Fellows Home of Corsicana. The greatly improved field has a steel grandstand as well as bleachers and will seat more than 3,000 persons. The playing ground is well sodded, the most modern lights have been installed for night playing, and the park is well fenced.

In honor of R. M. Hawkins, superintendent of schools, who has responsible for the new field, the Junior Chamber of Commerce, joined by the Rotary and Lions clubs, petitioned the school board to name it "Hawkins Field". The field will be named with appropriate ceremony Friday night.

Coach J. D. Foster has bright prospects for a good team this year, with more than usual material, a better blocking machine and more weight. McGregor plays here September 28, and the first conference game will be with the champion State Home Lads of Corsicana, here Thursday night, October 4.

Teague Lions to Open Season With Mart Hi

TEAGUE, Sept. 19.—(Spl.)—Emerging from their stiff two-hour scrimmage against the All-Stars in good shape, although defeated, the Teague Lions will be ready Friday night to open the 1934 season with the Mart Panthers as opponents.

Monday's scrimmage took the form of an open house at Reagan Field, with fans being given their first opportunity to view some gridiron action under the arcs. The All-Stars, composed of ex-high school players and other ineligible players, scored two touchdowns in the contest, with the Lions making one, and threatening two others, threats that failed due to fumbles.

The scrimmage showed the Lions that they will have to polish up on their assignments if they want to bother the strong Mart eleven.

Judging from the initial club placed on the field by Coach Bryan Schley, the starting lineup for Friday night will probably be: Ends, Keys and Hartsell; tackles, Jarrott and McSwane; guards, Roberts and Fitch; center, Pickle; backs, Petty, Lancaster, Perry and Lamberth.

Plan Fiesta in Mexia.

MEXIA, Sept. 19.—(Spl.)—Under the direction of C. R. Noles, general chairman, elaborate plans are being made for the third annual Fiesta de Mexia scheduled for October 4, 5 and 6. Parades, coronation of the queen, football games, dances and other events are included in the fun program.

REV A. R. CORN IS ELECTED AS PASTOR COUNCELLOR OF C. E.

GOOD ATTENDANCE FIRST FALL SESSION CITY UNION OF ENDEAVORERS

Rev. A. R. Corn, pastor of the Methodist Protestant church was elected pastor councellor, to fill the unexpired term of Rev. Paul Kennedy, at the first fall meetinb of the City Union Christian Endeavor Tuesday evening at the Methodist church. Miss Shirley McShan and a group of members from the Third Avenue Presbyterian church, had charge of the devotional and reported on the annual young people's conference, at Trinity University, Waxahachie.

Forty-two Endeavorers were present from the First Christian, Third Avenue Presbyterian, Methodist Protestant and Cumberland Presbyterian churches. Miss Sarah Kate Decherd, newly elected president, presided.

The meeting was opened with a spirited song service led by Miss Dechard, and was followed by the opening prayer by Harold F. Lovitt, state secretary Christian Endeavor, Dallas. Miss Bettie Marie Roxburgh, secretary read the minutes of the last June meeting which were approved.

Unanimously Elected.

Miss Decherd called for a report on the committee for the selection of a pastor councellor, to fill the vacancy left by Rev. Paul Kennedy, and Rev. Corn was unanimously elected.

Miss McShan took charge of the devotional program and presented Miss Jean Delahay who read the scripture. The prayer by Mrs. J. H. Bryant was followed by a piano solo "Waltz in E Flat" by Durand, played by Miss Male Fountain.

Miss McShan gave an interesting talk on the Young People's Conference held each year at Trinity University, Waxahachie. She explained fully the religious, recreational and social activities which were stressed at the conference. She also told about the impressive vesper services which were held each evening at sundown and of the candlelight communion service on the last night of the conference, when all present rededicated themselves to Christ and his work

Miss McShan closed her part of the program by leading the group in singing the Christian Endeavor song "Follow the Gleam".

Report on Financial Drive.

Robert Cason, president of the Waco District C E., reported on the financial drive of the state work. He reported the organization's expense for 1935 was estimated at $6,325, with 700 active societies in Texas. The Waco District was called upon to contribute $350 toward this sum, of which $100 will be expected of the Corsicana union. Mr. Cason discussed the finance campaign, and named Miss Mildred Walker, Miss Sarah Kate Decherd, Mrs. Albert Fullerton and Mrs. Petris as Corsicana's financial committee.

The president reported that the next meeting would be on Monday, Oct. 15, at the Third Avenue Presbyteria church.

The Rev. Mr. Corn showed a reel of motion pictures which he took on one of his trips to the Holy Land. After the young people of the Methodist Protestant church served delicious cookies and fruit, the meeting was dismissed with the Mizpah benediction.

ANOTHER CHILD BEEN PLACED IN DALLAS HOSPITAL

Another child has been placed in Baylor hospital, Dallas, for treatment through the efforts of Mrs. H. G. Brown and Mrs. I. W. Sheffield. This four year old boy is expected to respond to treatment and full recovery is anticipated.

Mrs. Brown stated that a free children's clinic will be held in Dallas Saturday and that arrangements are being made to take a number of Corsicana and Navarro county children to the clinic.

"Any afflicted child in Corsicana or Navarro county desiring to be taken to Dallas for this clinic is requested to get in touch with me at my pla business before Saturday so th transportation can be arranged," Mrs. Brown said. It is hoped that a large number will take advantage of this opportunity.

Romance of Defeat of Assyria by Supernatural Forces When Threatening Jews—Relation of Religion to National Safety—What Sort of God Have We?

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

One of the wracking big words that theologians, philosophers and other highbrows are fond of using is "anthropomorphism." It means "like unto man." Is is applied to the character of God. "Moderns" [illegible] when they use it, affecting [illegible]spise, as infantile, any mind [illegible]at thus regards God as personified. Our "emancipated" day prefers to think of the Almighty—if there really is such a Being—as a Primal Force, a Cosmic Intelligence, a First Cause. We are too wise and too big, they assert, to entertain the thought of a personal Diety.

Of course, these "advanced thinkers" have to concede that the God of the Old Testament is an anthropomorphic God. So is the God of the New Testament: for Jesus seemed mostly concerned to portray God as a Heavenly Father; and He taught us all to pray "Our Father who art in heaven." The high-water mark of Old Testament teaching is "Like as a father pitieth his children, so the Lord pitieth them that fear Him." The New Testament's peak is a cross whereon the Son, dying, cried "Father!"

Indeed, the only God with whom our ancestors have done business for two thousand years, is a personal God; One who is attentive to the cries of His children; Who answers their prayers and overrules their affairs. If God is not thus personal, and concerned with human life, then His very existence is a matter of indifference to mortals. It is because we believe that God knows and cares, hears and answers, that we obey Him and love Him, and leave our lives in His keeping. The Father-conception of God is not small; it is the largest possible. It takes a greater God to be personally interested, as Jesus taught, in the life of every human being than it took to set the universe whirling in space. No diviner interpretation of the Diety is possible than that set forth by Jesus, who came to show us the Father.

History and God.

This truth is the basis of our present lesson. Judah was menaced by Assyria, the most powerful kingdom of the time. God intervened to care for His people and to deliver them. That is the whole story.

There were highbrows and intellectuals and worldly-wise in those days who felt themselves above the considerations of simple piety. Their "practical' plan was to make an alliance with Egypt against Assyria. They were the counterparts of our present-day statesmen who rely upon armaments and treaties to protect and promote their nations, headless of the state of mind of the people. There is a pungent contemporaneousness about Isiah's word. 'Woe to them that go down to Egypt for help, and rely on horses, and trust [illegible] chariots because they are [illegible]ny [illegible]d in horsemen because [illegible] very strong, but they look [illegible] the Holy One of Israel, [illegible] seek Jehovah!"

Our world is still going down to Egypt—to the armament makers and to selfish nations in conference. We haven't the good sense to see that an army of Sunday school teachers are more powerful than an army with tanks, artillery and machine guns.

Poignant eloquence is in the passionate plea of Isaiah—who might be speaking to our world in 1934—"Turn ye unto Him, from Whom ye have deeply revolted, O children of Israel." That is the recurring message of these lessons and of every other voice that sees sincerely into the master motives of life. All organization, all political cleverness, a economic measures, all pacts and armaments are in vain, unless there be a new mind dominant in the people themselves—a mind motivated by loyalty to the living God and His will. The deepest instinct of the race is religious. Once it is given full play, in a supreme loyalty, we shall have a new world of brotherhood; and not until then. When all men sincerely pray, "Our Father," then they will behave like good children and brothers; and all the hosts of heaven will co-operate with them, even as the Assyrians were smitten without the aid of a single Jewish sword. This is an opportune moment to take down Byron's poems and read the famous lines,

"The Assyrian came down like a wolf on the fold,
His cohorts all gleaming with silver and gold."

The Prophet's Part.

In those frantic days in the life of the Jews, when kings were terrified by the Assyrian menace, we find a serene and majestic figure in the character of Isaiah, who had become established as the prophet, or interpreter, of Jehovah. In distress, the rulers appealed to him and he set forth the mind of God. He made plain the religious significance of contemporary events. And always, by exhortation, by citation of history, and by metaphors, he incited to faith. He was a heartener of his nation, as well as a counsellor of kings. In a dark day, his calm and intelligent trust in God was the one bright light.

Let no man say that preachers have nothing to do with the present world crisis. It is true that they should refrain from discussing definite measures of which they have no real knowledge. But in such times as the present it is the high duty of the minister of religion to bring to bear upon current problems the eternal truth of the will of God. We need spiritual trustees more than we need a brain trust. In a confused era, the call is loudest for those who clearly see and bravely indicate the paths of righteousness and religion. The one voice which our day most wants to hear is that which can say, "Thus saith the Lord." God give us Isaiahs!

Our Modern Assyrias.

Modern moral and spiritual guides will not hesitate to point out the perils which reside in our contemporary Assyrias. What are the real forces which threaten civilization and our own nation? Mostly, these prophets of disaster are vague in their ominousness. We look to our true prophets to particularize,

Various bugaboos have been lifted to frighten mankind—technocracy, corporate - power, the sensational browth of large private fortunes, the subjection of farmers and workingmen into the status of peasantry, the irruption of Asia's hordes, the decline of individualism, etc. Any or all of these may be grave perils; but none is the real Assyria that threatens us.

Doom will come, if it comes—and I am not fearful—when men and women slump from the spiritual conception of life, and from a sense of responsibility to a Supreme Being who holds both individuals and nations to accountability for their conduct. If the Divine teachings of man's brother responsibility to man, and of obedience to God's will as the supreme obligation of life, fade out from human consciousness, then we shall sink into the slough of sensual selfishness, and of a brutish "every man for himself" manner of life. Assyria will then have devastated us.

Movings of the Deep.

Certainly the scene is all set for the modern Isaiahs. In the United States and Canada, even more than in the rest of the world, there are profound stirrings of human sentiment. The deeps of life are moving. Fear is a factor. The sense of fairness, and of concern for the common well being, is a still greater force. A questing to know the true way of the better life is also widely evident. Never were ears so alert to hear the supreme hour for the teacher of religion with a clear message.

Overwhelmingly, people want peace—international peace, and that deeper causative peace which is the human spirit's highest reward. They need to catch the full import of Isaiah's word, as true now as when spoken, more than twenty-five hundred years ago, "Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on Thee." That is the Golden Text of the present lesson. It is also the golden truth for the present time.

FAMOUS FAST TRAIN OF BURLINGTON WILL BE SHOWN CORSICANA

The famous Zephyr, owned and operated by the Burlington Lines will be displayed in Corsicana for an hour one day early in October, it was announced here today by T. V. Murray, Jr., of Dallas, general agent of the Burlington Lines of Texas, who was in the city for a few hours making arrangements for the exhibition. The fast train is now in Hollywood, Calif., figuring in motion pictures in the Radio-Keith Orpheum studios.

Mr. Murray said the train will be brought to Dallas, and will make a test speed-run to Houston over the Burlington tracks It then will be taken for exhibition to Galveston, and brought back through Teague, Corsicana and Waxahachie for exhibitions before being taken to Dallas where it will be shown during the state fair. Mr. Murray believes that thousands of Corsicana people will be interested in seeing the famous train, and all preparations to handle a huge crowd are being made.

In a test-run from Denver, Colo., to Chicago on May 26 the train covered the 1015 miles in 785 minutes, for an average speed of 77.6 miles per hour, and reached a top speed of 130 miles per hour. In making this test run the Zephyr won the world's non-stop record for any train.

The exact date of the Corsicana exhibition has not been determined. but will be announced in the near future. While in Corsicana Mr. Murray was the guest of A. S. Vann, joint agent here for the Burlington and Rock Island lines.

ITALIAN MILITARY LAW STARTS YOUTH TRAINING EARLY

BOYS FROM EIGHT TO 21 YEARS MUST UNDERGO COMPULSORY SERVICE

ROME, Sept. 18.—(AP)—Compulsory military service for Italians beginning at the age of 8 and continuing to the age of 33, was decreed today by the council of ministers in probably the most sweeping military law ever passed in history.

"Declaring "the functions of a citizen and of a soldier are not dividable in the Fascist state," the council created the three following categories of compulsory military training.

(1)—Preliminary—beginning at the age of 8 years;

(2)—Military—beginning at the age of 21 years.

(3)—Post-military — continuing for 10 years after the military phase is concluded.

With reference to the youths, the council declared that by this decree, boys from the time they are 8 years old until they are called to rams at 21 will be prepared spiritually, physicially and militarily by the civil organization of the Fascist Balilla and by the Fascist Youths of Combat. Thus, when they enter the armed forces, they can dedicate themselves exclusively to warlike professional and specialized training in arms.

In Two Divisions.

The youth training is divided into two divisions:

First, 8 to 18; second, 18 to 21.

The council instituted a liasion body between the armed forces and all organizations which will cooperate in "the formation of an armed nation" and will place an army corps general at the body's head.

Premier Mussolini presided over the council, which announced:

"The purpose of the first stage of compulsory pre-military training is to give boys a passion for military life through frequent contacts with the armed forces whose warlike glories and traditions will be re-evoked."

The purpose of the second stage of pre-military training, it was announced, is "to perfect the spiritual, physical nad military training of a young man so as to form a soldier physically and technically prepared as an individual and to prepare the specialized element of which the armed forces have so much need—especially the navy and air force."

Soldier at Eighteen.

At the age of 18 an Italian, the council decreed, is to be regarded as a soldier. From that age he is obliged to bear arms.

Until the age of 21, he still is under the jurisdiction of the Fascist organization but at 21 he comes under the jurisdiction of the army.

The new liaison organization is made a direct dependency of Premier Mussolini.

Post-military training, said the council, is "to keep alive in the reservists the military spirit and the devotion to the regiment and to keep men of the specialized division instructed in the use of new materials and tactics."

The decree continued: "Post-military instruction is obligatory for men up to the tenth year succeeding that on which they were dismissed from the army."

Post-Military Plans.

This instruction will be given on Sundays and holidays and during the annual period of the recall to arms. Employers were forbidden to impede or to place obstacles in the way of their employes' frequent post-military instruction.

In addition to the foregoing, the council decided on the institution of courses in military culture in all high schools and colleges.

Said the council:

"The general culture of students who are destined in the future to constitute the middle and ruling classes of the country will thus be opportunely completed by adequate military cultural preparation which will permit the best utilization of each one in the officers' rank of the state-armed forces.

"The military notion with which each young man will be furnished by the time he begins his military service will permit him to devote the little time available to the exclusively practical part of his training."

To Start in Two Weeks.

This military cultural training will begin with the scholastic year which starts two weeks from now. It will occupy 20 hours of each scholastic year.

The council established a regular curriculum for this spring, as follows: Military history, centering particularly on Italy's part in the World War; how armed forces are constituted and their purposes; characteristics of terrain from a military viewpoint; how to read a topographical map; an examination of Italian frontiers; a comparative examination of the armed forces of the principal modern nations.

CLAIM GERMANY USES IMPOUNDED FOREIGN FUNDS AS SUBSIDIES

UNITED AIRCRAFT OFFICIAL SOMEWHAT UNWILLING PROBE WITNESS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—(AP)—A report that Germany was using impounded foreign funds to subsidize German aircraft manufacturers was read today to the senate munitions committee.

A letter written December 4, 1933, by the International Engineering Company, Inc., to the United Aircraft Exports, Inc., was put into the record. It said the German government was subsidizing German manufacturers to the extent of 20 per cent against non-German competition in all lines.

"This fact should be known to American firms as we have recently noted that the foreign funds impounded in Germany are now used in financing such subsidies," it said.

"Did you know that foreign worth of airplanes, engines and equipment to the Reich so far in 1934. Against the contentions of committeemen that the materials were destined for a place in the vast re-armament plans attributed to the Hitler regime, compnay officials insisted the equipment was sold for commercial purposes.

Chairman Nye (R-Ind.) asserted:

"There was proof offered in evidence here yesterday in the form of letters found in the files of the company that these people knew their engines were going for military purposes."

Another new development today was an announcement that the armament business of United States Steel and Bethlehem Steel corporation will be scrutinized by the senate committee. Officials of these firms will be summoned to testify late in the fall.

Delving further into the United Aircraft export concern's business with Germany, the committee recalled Donald L. Brown to the stand today. He is president of Pratt and Whitney company, United's engine manufacturing subsidiary. C. W. Deeds, treasurer of the concern, also was called.

Temple Woman Slain on Street Man Is Sought

TEMPLE, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Charges of murder were prepared today against a Temple man whom officers sought as the slayer of Mrs. Lillian Davis, 46, a store clerk who was shot down as she walked along a busy downtown street en route home.

Witnesses said the man drove alongside Mrs. Davis, jumped from his car, fired four shots, three taking effect, and then fled in his automobile. Two of the shots entered Mrs. Davis' head, one of them being fired after she fell to the ground, witnesses said.

Mrs. Davis is survivd by three children.

FOR THE WOMAN WHO WANTS TO BE FLATTERED

Pattern 1799

by Anne Adams

This is an "at home" frock for the woman with a feminine turn of mind—who asks of her clothes, flattery as well as style. It is a pretty frock without being too pretty—its becoming details are super-imposed upon simple, smart lines. Remark the skirt, for example; nothing could possibly be plainer or more slenderizing. And for all its casual grace that soft collar also makes a woman look slim. The sleeves, too, do the nicest sort of thing for the arms which emerge from them. Of course you are not obliged to have the frills unless you like them—however, it is safe to say that most women will.

Pattern 1799 is available in sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 6. Size 36 takes 4 1-8 yards 39 inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Send Fifteen Cents (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this Anne Adams Pattern. Write plainly name, address and style number. Be sure to state size.

Send for the new fall and winter issue of the Anne Adams Pattern Book and know what is new in smart clothes. It takes you through the whole of fashion from lingerie to outergarments - - not overlooking some alluring new house frocks - - - and bearing in mind the needs of the younger generation. Price of Book fifteen cents. Book and Pattern Together Twenty-five cents.

BROOKLYN GAMBLER AND FELON DIED PRAYING AS TWO GUNMEN PUMPED LEAD INTO HIS BODY

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Sept. 20.—(AP)—This is how Fred Bocci died today—at half past midnight—in the Christofolo club at 533 Metropolitan avenue—with four bullets in his body.

He died praying, this 27-year-old gambler and former felon who once did time in the New Jersey state prison at Trenton on a shooting charge.

Two dozen men were in the room. Bocci sat with three others at a table, playing pinochle.

Two fellows entered. Each carried a pistol.

"This is not a holdup, gentleman," said one. "If you remain quiet and do not attempt to leave the room, no one will get hurt—except that rat."

Venom dripped from the last word, directed at Bocci.

Bocci tried to speak,

"I'm a good fellow," he stutterer. "I'm everybody's pal."

'Shut up," snapped the gunman. "If you want to pray make it snappy. You were no good in Jersey. You're no good in Brooklyn. Pray! You need to."

Bocci sent a frantic glance around the room. It was quite still. Most of the men had their hands above their heads. Others gaped, fear-stricken. Murder was in the air.

Near where he knelt, mumbling prayer, Bocci saw a phone booth. Refuge!

Bocci, taking his only chance leaped for the booth.

The guns roared. Two bullets in the back, a third through the breast, and a fourth through his right hand.

The killers walked out to a waiting car, and drove away.

About four hours later, in front of 6605 13th avenue another car drove up. The door was opened and Willima Gallo, 26, was pushed from the tonneau.

As he fell to the sidewalks shots rang out. The car sped away.

Police found the badly wounded Gallo suffering gunshot wounds in the head, back, abdomen and legs. He was taken to Kings county hospital where his condition was said to be critical.

Gallo, married but separated from his wife, was said by police to have been a small time gambler with a police record. They ascribed the shooting to rival gamblers.

Jap Newspapers Headline Plans Of U. S. Fleet

TOKYO, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Vernacular newspapers today splashed the headlines "Japan the Target" and "Japan and Imaginary Enemy," over the announcement of Secretary Swanson's plans for the United States fleet's 1935 Pacific maneuvers which call for operations in the Puget Sound—Hawaii—Alaska, trangle.

A spokesman for Admiral Mineo Osumi, naval minister, said "there is no reason for the Japanese navy to be sensitive concerning the American plans. All navies hold maneuvers and it always is necessary to have an imaginary enemy. We do not care to criticize the United States navy's choice of the theatre of maneuvers or imaginary foe." The some spokesman said Admiral Osumi had not decided where Japan would hold its maneuvers next year.

The newspapers also attached considerable importance to the departure of Rear Admiral Isoroku Yamamota for London, to demand abolition of the naval tonnage ratios.

LIMITATION OF CORN PRODUCTION TO BE SUBMITTED

OFFICIALS SAY DON'T WANT PLAN "SHOVED DOWN THROATS OF FARMERS"

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Limitation of corn production in 1935 to between 2,250,000,000 and 2,350,000,000 bushels was said by farm administration leaders today to be one of the proposals it may submit in the coming referendum of corn-hog farmers.

The hope by this method, if it is accepted, to achieve their purpose in controlling future hog production, although indications continued that limitation of next year's hog crop under contract must be a part of the plan.

Officials emphasized that they were not preparing an iron-clad plan to be "shoved down the throats" of the farmers. After the administration's experience in having its carefully-prepared dairy reduction plan turned down at a group of farm meetings, the planners agreed that it is best to allow farmers to draft their own program.

Information gathered at the series of regional discussions being concluded today at Atlanta is being tabulated preparatory to drawing up the group of questions which the administration will ask corn-hog farmers in the national poll.

Two factors were apparently forcing the administration to abandon its original suggestion that hog production be curtailed through limitation of the corn crop—sentiment of regional meetings for continuation of the present group curtailment and the AAA staff ruling that processing taxes on hogs could not be continued unless substantial benefit payments are made.

Officials expressed themselves as certain that the "almost unanimous" agitation for continuance of both corn and hog control would also be manifest in the referendum expected to begin next month.

Limitation of the corn crop to the figure in mind by administration officials would call for a reduction of about 2,000,000 acres from the 92,000,000 acres planted this year. With an average yield of about 25 bushels per acre a crop of between 2,250,000,000 and 2,350,000,000 bushels would be produced.

Some expansion in hog numbers is expected to be made for next year, however. The 1934 program called for a reduction of 25 per cent from the base period average. The 1935 reduction now under consideration is 20 per cent, or an approximate increase of 5 per cent in the hog population.

This, officials believe, will bring production about in line with domestic consumption plus whatever pork and lard exports can be secured under new reciprocal treaties and other stimulants.

Tyler Girl Was Killed in Crash Early Thursday

TYLER, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Miss Laura Bess Benman, 18, of Tyler, was killed instantly and H. O. Stacup and Dr. Paul Larkin, both of Tulsa, Okla., were injured when their automobile collided with a carnival truck southeast of Tyler early today.

Stalcup, whose skull was fractured, probably will die, physicians said.

Dr. Paul Larkin is a son of Dr. Frank B. Larkin of Tulsa. He suffered only minor injuries.

No one in the truck was injured.

Nine Killed In Mexican Quake Jalisco State

MEXICO, D. F., Sept. 20—(AP)—Belated dispatches to the newspaper, La Presna, said today that at least nine persons were killed, 200 injured, and thousands made homeless by an earthquake last Saturday night in the state of Jalisco.

Several small and isolated villages were reported destroyed.

The reports said that practically every building was razed in Talpa, Cuale, Concepcion del Bramador, and Zapotes.

INTEREST HIGH IN MASSACHUSETTS DEMO PRIMARIES

BOSTON, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Interest was at its highest pitch here today in the democratic primaries, with James M. Culey, the oiginal "Roosevelt for President" man of New England opposing Gen. Chas. H Cole, for the gubernatorial nomination.

Cole has the backing of Governor Joseph B. Ely, who at the Chicago national convention nominated Alfred E. Smith for the presidency. Curley was rejected by the pre-primary convention that endorsed Cole.

David I Walsh incumbent has two opponents for the senatorial nomination former Lieut. Governor Edward P. Barry and William Ronahue ,both of Boston. Walsh is a resident of Clinton.

Gasper G. Bacon, republican lieutenant governor is opposed for his party's gubernatorial nomination by Frank A. Goodwin, former register of motor vehicles. The republican candidate for U. S. senotor, Robert M. Washburn is unopposed.

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 20—(AP)—Postmaster General James A. Farley in an interview said the result of the Wisconsin primary is further evidence that "there is going to be just as great a democratic landslide in November this year" as there was in November, 1932.

"That vote is indicative of the growth of th edemocratic party as an effective organization, fighting for the liberal policies of government in this country" he said.

DISTRICT MEETING CHRISTIAN CHURCH IN SESSION HERE

THREE STATE SECRETARIES ADDRESS FIRST SESSION OF FOURTEENTH DISTRICT

Three state secretaries of the Christian church addressed an all-day convention of the Fourteenth District at the First Christian church here Tuesday morning, with about 150 representatives from 51 churches in the district representing 14,000 members present. [illegible] afternoon session, which start[illegible] at 1 o'clock, following a luncheon, opened with a devotional service, and was followed by a number of reports of district and regional activities, and round-table discussions.

A banquet was scheduled at 6 o'clock this evening, at which Arthur A. Everts, Dallas jeweler, will deliver the principal address upon the subject, "Jesus' Acid Test; Does it Work?"

Dr. L. N. D. Wells of Dallas, will deliver the address at the closing session this evening, beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

A. Paul Daugherty, president of the Fourteenth District, of Dallas, presided at all the sessions.

Miss Hawkins led the devotional at the morning meeting, with the worship theme, "Looking Upward," and the subject, "Adventuring With Jesus." The devotional consisted of songs poems and prayers interspersed with comments upon the general theme.

C. H. Morris, field secretary, T. C. U., Fort Worth, was the first speaker, and his subject was "Education in Living the More Abundant Life." Mr. Morris quoted Scripture, which analyzed, meant that Jesus grew in wisdom, or intellect. He grew in stature. He grew in favor with God, and He grew in favor with man.

Attributes Analyzed.

The speaker analyzed each of the attributes of Jesus and forcefully brought out the practical application of each qualification in today's life of young people. In summarizing his talk, Mr. Morris quoted the statesman, Gladstone, as saying that if the Gospel were read, obeyed, understood and believed, the problems of the nation would be solved. He also quoted Lloyd George as saying that every cure-all for England's ailments had been tried, and suggested that the Bible would cure those ailments. In closing, Mr. Morris said T. C. U. is trying to carry out this four-fold development.

Harold Lovitt, state secretary Christian Endeavor, of Dallas, was the next speaker. Having prefaced his remarks with the statement that to look forward, a church must look backward. Mr. Lovitt outlined a number of objectives set forth in 1929 by the international council.

Must Continue Growth

He stressed that each objective was for growing people, and that people should be taught in a church from the cradle to the grave. "If we cease to grow, as Christians, we fail to add anything to our Christian experiences," he said in this connection.

The speaker contended that the church of tomorrow must and will [illegible] by tea[illegible]ing all phases [illegible]rams of the church in a [illegible]ed way. Mr. Lovitt dis[illegible] prayer in its relation to [illegible]ing in the church, and this topic was widely discussed and analyzed by the speaker.

"The church of tomorrow must be a praying church, and it must place its emphasis on prayer" the State Christian Endeavor secretary declared.

His second topic was thinking in terms of the church anr how to get its people to more fully participate in its activities. In this connection he stressed the fact that the church of tomorrow must be more closely organized, and all members should be conversant with activities that are taking place.

Everyone Will Participate.

"With such a close organization," he said, "the church of tomorrow will be one in which everyone participates."

Under the heading of co-operation, Mr. Lovitt said all parts of the church in the future will have to co-operate in furthering the church's program, and all defects present in this set-up prevent many from getting the full benefit of the church's program.

Mr. Lovitt pointed out there is no line of demarcation between evangelism and religious education. In closing, the speaker declared that when such adjustments that he mentioned are made the church will make its proper advancement.

At this time President Daugherty named two committees to report in the afternoon session upon time and place of the next meeting.

Miss Bessie Hart, state secretary of womens' work in the Christian church, was the next speaker. Her subject was "Women and the Kingdom."

Missionary Program.

Miss Hart told of early failures of the church in its missionary program, and as though looking into a crystal, and peering into the future, from 60 years ago, the speaker briefly outlined the missionary program to the present time.

She said that upon its initial failure a woman knelt in prayer, and accepted the challenge on behalf of the women of the church to sponsor missionary work. She uniquely told of the hardships and discouragements that were encountered, but which were met by the women. Miss Hart contrasted the visions of the missionary outlook 60 years ago with the present visions.

The speaker showed next that now the little mission churches are proving the inspiration for the larger churches. She also pointed out that present reports from mission work are encouraging.

Have Confidence to [illegible].

"If women adventured [illegible] missionary work 60 years [illegible] we. [illegible]day, with better faci[illegible] and more advantages, should surely work better in that line today," Miss Hart said. In closing Miss Hart declared that the women of the church have hope, faith and confidence in their work in the future, and hope to put their contribution to the church's activities upon a plane with that of the men.

Patrick Henry, state secretary of missions, gave a detailed report of the work of his department, and said he wished to show how the problem should be approached according to the holy writ. His subject was "Jerusalem and Judea," and he said that Corsicana would represent Jerusalem, and Texas would represent Judea.

Mr. Henry outlined in detail the set up of operating the Texas mission department of the church, and told of the work that it is doing. According to the speaker, the object of the department is to reorganize and re-open smaller churches in places that have been closed. He recited a number of instances of the successful work in this department, and closed with the statement that that phase of the church wor kat present has an opimistic outlook.

Shelving the Minister.

Under the subject, "Shelving the Minister," Rev. Fred Hanna of Preston Road Christian church, Dallas, discussed the pension fund. He said the church is shelving the ministers in wholesale scale, and some long before they have served out their period of usefulness. After reciting statistics of the number of ministers, widows and orphans supported, the speaker said, "I challenge you, we cannot do less than meet their expectations, as God said care for the widows and orphans."

F. L. Jewett, professor of the Bible chair, State University, Austin, was the last speaker of the morning. In opening, he read a letter from Dr. H. Y. Benedict, sent to all prospective State University students, pointing out the three-fold development of young manhood and young womanhood at the University, and urged them to plan to join the church of their choice in Austin, and participate in the church's activities.

Responsible for 500 Students.

Mr. Jewett said he feels responsible for 500 new students at each new term at the university, and invites them to join their own churches. He said he represents all Christian churches at the university, and he tries to give them surroundings at the university that they have at home, and maintain their faith in religion, as their parents would do. In closing, Mr. Jewett said that hereafter the Bible chair at the university is supported by each individual church, and asked that the churches represented remember that work when making up their budgets.

After adjournment, luncheon was served in the church annex.

Afternoon and Night Program.

Speakers and discussion leaders at the afternoon session were Mrs. Jack Dale, secretary womens' work, Fourteenth District; Charles Marion Ross, Southwest regional secretary; president of convention, Paul Daugherty, Greenville Avenue church, Dallas; Lester Rickman, Palmer-Milford; and Charles W. Ross, Mt. Auburn church, Dallas.

Following is the program scheduled for the 7:30 service tonight:

"This is the way; walk ye in it." Isa. 30:21.

Worship Theme—Moving Forward.

Prelude—Religioso Andante.

"On Wings of Music—Everybody.

Benediction.

WISCONSIN DEMOCRATIC TICKET POLLS MORE VOTES THAN PARTY JUST FORMED BY LAFOLLETTES

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Democrats renominated Gov. Albert G. Schmedeman in yesterday's primary.

In the democratic gubernatorial contest 2440 precincts gave: Schmedeman 141,849; William B. Rubin, 25,359; Richard Lehmann, 12,788.

For the Progressive gubernatorial nomination 2388 precincts gave: Philip LaFollette 120,425; Henry O. Meisel 6080.

For the Republican nomination for governor 2388 precincts gave: Howard T. Greene 72,443; Fred R. Zimmerman 44,593; James N. Tittemore 9719.

Zimmerman conceded Greene's nomination.

Senator Robert LaFollette, without opposition, polled 107,438 votes in 2519 precincts. John B. Chapple, republican senatorial nominee, also without opposition, ran along with the republican ticket. His vote in 2101 precincts: [illegible]0,733.

John M. Callahan held a lead over his nearest rival for the democ[illegible] senatorial [illegible]tion. The vote in 2366 precincts gave: Callahan 48,[illegible]66; Francis E. McGovern, 41,8[illegible]3; Charles E. Hammersley, 33,448; W. D. Carroll 24,026; Mrs. Gertrude Bowler, 21,944.

MILWAUKEE, is., Sept. 19.—(AP)—The democratic state ticket, strongly in support of President Roosevelt and the new deal apparently polled the biggest vote in the Wisconsin primary election Tuesday, leaving the new Lafollette progressive party and the republicans behind at the rate of about 18 votes to a precinct.

This was indicated by returns from more than half of the state's 2916 precincts.

Governor Albert G. Schedeman had a heavy plurality over two opponents for the democratic gubernatorial nomination with more than half of the state reported.

On the other state fickets, PhilipF. Lafollette, progressive candidate for governor and Howard T. Green, republican candidate had substantial majorities over their opponents but fell short of meeting the democratic voting strength.

The progressives and republicans, who until this year fought their primary battles in the same party column, were running about even in their share of the balloting.

The voters themselves furnished the big surprise of the election by failing to respond to the general plea for a large turn-out. Available returns indicated that not many more than 500,000 votes were cast, compared with 900,000 in the primary of two years ago and 1,200,000 in the general election.

In the democratic senatorial race two of five candidates were running a close race for the nomination to oppose Senator Robert M. Lafollette, Jr., progressive candidate, and John B. Chapple, republican nominee. Neither Lafollette nor Chaple had opposition.

In the democratic vote for governor 1760 precincts gave: Schmedeman, 85,011; William B. Rubin, 20,648; Richard Lehmann 4,203.

In the progressive gubernatorial race 1628 precincts showed: Philip LeFollette 76,976; Henry O. Meisel, 3,736.

In the republican contest for governor 1673 precincts gave. Greene 46,611; Former Governor Fred R. Zimmerman 30,608; Jas. N. Tittemore 6,566.

The vote in the Democratic senatorial primary in 1565 precints was: John M. Callahan 26,029; Francis E. McGovern, 21.505; Charles E. Hammersley, 18,295; State Senator W. D. Carroll 13,544; Mrs. Gertrude Bowler 13,504.

The socialist had no contests for governor or senator. The nominees are George M. Nelson for governor and James P. Sheehan for the senate.

Democrats Change In Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 19.—(AP)—Mississippi democrats shuffled the new deal deck and dealt themselves a new United States senator and three new congressmen it appeared today.

With nomination tantamount to election, Former Governor Theodore Gilmre Bilbo had a lead of more than 4,000 votes over Senator Hubert D. Stephens in yesterday's primary. Stephens ran on a "stand by Roosevelt and the New Deal" platform.

The vote in 1447 of 1641 precincts gave Bilbo, 95,557 and Stephens 91,131.

The two incumbent congressmen who apparently lost their seats were Jeff Busby and Russell Ellzey. Busby trailed Attorney A. L. Ford of Adkerman by 1,049 votes with returns nearly complete. The vote: Busby, 10,432; Ford, 11,481. Ellzey was 2,000 short of State Senator Dan R. McGehee, who polled 21,112 votes.

District Attorney Aubert C. Dunn emerged victor over Thomas L. Bailey, speaker of the state house of representatives in the district formerly represented by Ross A. Collins. Dunn polled 16,556 to Bailey's 9,884. Collins withdrew to run for senator against Bilbo and Stephens.

Bilbo, veteran of a hundred political campaigns, made the campaign as his first bid for a return to political power. His first victory was election to the state senate in 1907. Later he was Lieutenant governor and in 1916 and 1928 was governor.

Laying down a 27-point program of his own, Bilbo nevertheless pledged himself to the new deal and expressed himself as loyal to President Roosevelt.

SAN ANTONIO WAS BOMBARDED 8-3 IN THURSDAY VICTORY

SECOND GAME OF SERIES WILL BE PLAYED IN SAN ANTONIO TONIGHT

By BILL PARKER
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 20. (AP)—The Pirates of Galveston got a glimpse of Dixie series gold last night when they beat San Antonio, 8 to 3, in the first of seven games for the Texas league championship and the right to represent the Texas league in the anual minor league classic against the Southern Association champion.

Having one victory stored away, the Buccaneers are hopeful of winning tonight's game before moving into Moody stadium at Galveston for the next three melees. The Missions are just as hopeful that the Bucs don't win, for losing two straight in their own ball orchard would force the Missions into the almost impossible task of winning three consecutive games at Galveston.

Jack Jakucki, the California curver, is Galveston's mound nominee for tonight. He probably will be opposed by Ash Hillin, the powerful right hander who won 26 games this season, counting his two victories over Beaumont in the first round of the Shaughnessy play-off.

Huge Crowd Present.

An all paid crowd of 9,251 crammed its way into the park last night only to see the Buccaneers put down a bombardment of six hits for six runs in the eighth to drive Earl Caldwell from the mound and cinch the game for Harry Gumbert, whose underhand curve ball stopped the Missions with eight hits. Last night's crowd not only filled the seats but handreds crowded the space betwen the foul lines and grandstand and bleachers. At third and first base, there was barely room for the coaches. In spite of the limited playing space outside the foul lines, there was no freak plays that marred the game. Several hits went into the crowd for doubles.

The story of last night's opener can easily be told Caldwell and Gumbert pitched with a varied assortment of stuff through the first seven inings with the score 2 to 2. In the eighth Beau Bell, Galveston right fielder, walked to the plate and cracked a double.

It was the skyrocket signal to cut lose the fireworks. Moses singled, English singled, Governor singled, McLeod struck out, Linten walked Gumbert singled, Malay singled, Fauscett flied out, and the Bell, who started the rally, grounded out.

At the conclusion Caldwell was on the bench, Howard Mills had relieved him and the Buccaneers had scored six runs for an 8 to 2 lead, something the Missions could not handle even though they went down trying with a run in the ninth on doubles by Mills and Purdy.

J. T. Stroder of Emmett was a business visitor in Corsicana Thursday morning.

GREAT BRITAIN AND FRANCE DENOUNCED WAR IN GRAN CHACO

NATIONS SAY FIGHTING BETWEEN PARAGUAY AND BOLIVIA MUST STOP

GENEVA, Sept. 19.—(AP)— With Russia occupying her permanent seat in the League of Nations Council for the first time, France and Great Britain today denounced the bloody war between Paraguay and Bolivia as a debacle which must stop.

Louis Barthou, French foreign minister, told the council that the time has come for action in the Chaco dispute and "this conflict threatens to affect the prestige of the League."

Captain Anthony Eden, British lord privy seal, said the war had lasted too long and the League must act.

Salvador De Madariago of Spain urged the warring nations to declare an armistice.

Coincidence or design placed Maxim Litvinoff, Russian foreign commissar, beside the empty chair which Japan had quitted when he attended his first session of the council. The vacant chair was at his right; Poland's representative was at his left at the horseshoe table.

As Dr. Edouard Benes of Czecholsovakia opened the session, he expressed a welcome to Russia, the crowd in the chamber leaned forward to hear as Dr. Benes said:

"We realize the importance of this great political event and we are glad to co-operate in a friendly way with Russia for the strengthening of peace."

Litvinoff answered with a pledge of co-operation with the League in a spirit of friendship and loyalty.

Dr. Ribas Vicuna of Chile, taking his seat on that nation's behalf, said Chile, as a member of the council, would give "The same untiring co-operation" which marked her attitude as a member of the assembly.

Turkey Aso Welcomed.

To the council also was welcomed Turkey.

The general atmosphere of calm and welcome, however, was suddenly shattered by Dr. A. Costa Du Rels of Bolivia, who protested against the general arms embargo imposed on the Chaco belligerents with a declaration that without a proper surveillance of the embargo, Paraguay can smuggle war munitions from the Atlantic.

Dr. Caballero Bedoya of Paraguay responded immediately, retorting that Paraguay does not object to the embargo.

Protest against the admission of Russia to the League was received from exiles who said they represented a group of former independent nations now federated as republics with the Soviet Union.

Speaking for Azerbaijah, Northern Caucausus, Georgia, Turkestan and Ukraine alleged Russia committed aggressions in their countries, occupied them by military force and now "governing only by terror."

Farm Youth Is Given Death For Killing of Negro

DALLAS, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Cecil Short, 23, farm youth, faced a death penalty today, assessed him by a jury which convicted him last night of murder for the killing of Aaron Jones, 76, negro, after a robbery which allegedly netted Short and William Stone a companion, only $11.

The verdict was the second in the history of Dallas county in which a white man was given the death penalty for the killing [illegible] negro.

Grady Busby, indicted with short and Stone in the case, testified Short told him before the killing: "We've got to put the old man on the spot" and that they believed the aged negro had as much at $100 on his person.

Judge Noland G. Williams complimented members of the jury on their action, telling them that "verdicts of the kind you have just returned will be the greatest deterrent to crime in Dallas county."

NOME, FAMOUS CITY OF GOLD, SWEPT BY DEVASTATING FIRE

WITH MANY HOMELESS OUTSIDE AID IS ASKED AS WINTER APPROACHES

NOME, Alaska, Sept. 18. (AP)—Alaska's famous city of gold lay in smoking ruins today with two dead and a property loss estimated as high as $2,000,000.

Faced by a definite food shortage and an early winter which will lock the city's roadstead with ice, Nome's homeless citizens pleaded for immediate aid from the states.

"We must have help from outside, speedily," said Dr. Rex M. Swatz, the city's physician-mayor.

The federal government, Red Cross and American companies promptly promised to rush aid in an effort to beat the winter's ice into the harbor.

Starting from a spark on the roof of the Golden Gate hotel yesterday, flames roared through the wooden town, leaping from building to building, and then from block to block. Efforts of firemen, aided by men, women and children were futile.

Federal buildings, the Miners and Merchants bank, every grocery store and restaurant, all of the hotels but one fell before the flames.

Two Eskimos were trapped by the flames. They burned to death.

Buildings were dynamited as the blaze raced today toward Front street. A number of white persons were injured. At the hospital—one of the few buildings to escape the fire—physicians said several were in a serious condition.

Food Supply Consumed

Most of the city's food supply was consumed by the fire—a dire predicament for a city as isolated as Nome which must import all that it eats. Food and material to rebuild the city must be brought in by boat over long rough water journeys from southeastern Alaska or Seattle before ice freezes out all ships six weeks hence. Food may also be flown in by airplane from Fairbanks, half way across Alaska. Dog sled journeys from Fairbanks take months under normal conditions.

Hundreds of Nome's summer population of 1,000 were utterly homeless. In winter time the city has about 1,500 residents.

While some stayed up throughout the night to watch the fire burn itself out, the remainder crowded into the one hotel, the hospital, warehouse along the water front or the few residences that escaped the conflagration.

Temperature Near Freezing.

The temperature is near the freezing point.

Relief kitchens fed the city temporarily. City officials began a survey while the embers still glowed to determine how long the remaining food would last.

Already new supplies are on the way aboard the liner Victoria due in Nome a week hence.

The coast guard cutter Northland was ordered to put out from Dutch harbor—nearest Alaska city by water—and sped from the Aleutian Islands to give what aid it could.

The coast guard headquarters at Washington sent the following radio to the commanders of the Bering Sea patrol force: "Proceed to Nome with cutters Chelan, Shoshone, and Northland to render whatever assistance necessary to destitute and homeless. Ascertain from civil authorities at Nome by radio whether provisions required and take steps accordingly."

Has Colorful History.

Nome, magnet of the world during the great Alaskan and Yukon gold riches, became a colorful page in history in 1898 when placer miners discovered the yellow metal near the town that was just a collection of shacks.

On the north shore of Norton sound, Alaska, it is the center of all mining operations of that part of America's rich territory of Alaska, which was purchased from Rusisa.

More than $1,000,000 came out of this district in one month in the days before gold mining became scientific, and it still is one of the centers of gold production.

Ice closes the harbor most of the year, so that only in the months from June to October is it accessible except by airplane.

Got Name By Accident.

Nome got its name by accident, legend says. A draughtsman was mapping the country, and when he reached that section, he marked it "name?" A cartographer misread his handwriting and lettered it the word "Nome."

When the magic word "gold" was broadcast to the world in 1898, Nome soon acquired a population or 20,000 persons, who hoped either to discover gold or to "chisel" the gleaming nuggets and dust from those who had discovered it.

In those days dance halls and saloons, gambling halls and similar rough hewn palaces of pleasure sprang up like mushrooms. That was the heyday of such characters as Robert Service's "Lady Known As Lou," "Dan McGrew," "Sam McGee," and the rest of them.

Russ Maynard, son of George Maynard, publisher of the city's Associated Press newspaper, cabled first word to the outside world. He was nearly trapped as the roof of his plant collapsed while he was attempting to save printing equipment. Undaunted, he "got the story" and cabled it to the Associated Press in Seattle.

Constable S. T. Curry of Blooming Grove was a business visitor in Corsicana Thursday morning.

SECRETARY ICKES CONTINUES TO SEEK CONTROL OF OIL

APPEALED BEFORE HOUSE COMMITTEE FOR FEDERAL PRODUCTION CONTROL

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—(AP)—Secretary Ickes today appeared before a house committee for federal oil production control legislation, suggesting the government be empowered to allocate production between units within the states in cases where the latter are "unable or unwilling" to make such allocations.

Testifying before the committee which is investigating whether legislation is necessary, the secretary said "there is need for a permanent oil conservaion policy for the United States."

"The division of the state's share of the national total of crude permitted to be produced among the pools, fields, leaseholds or well within any state is the primary responsibility of the state." Ickes told the committee.

"But where a state is unable or unwilling to make this division within the total share assigned to it by the federal agency and until such time as it has actually done so, I feel that power should be given for the designation by the federal agency of state committee's which would be authorized to make the proper division in the same general manner as do the conservation commissions and officers of the other states.

Wants Producers Punished.

"Producers in a state who violate the orders of the state, thereby tending to cause an increase in the total production of that state over the total share assigned to it by the federal agency, should be subject to punishment under federal as well as under state laws.

"The states should be accorded full legal protection against the possibility of unreasonable action by the federal agency in the allocation of crude oil production. In other words, there should be ample provision for public hearings and for appeals to the courts, but such hearings or appeals should not be used as a means of postponing the effective date of any allocation."

The secretary said that if possible there should be joint federal and state hearings within the states in the determination of proper drilling in development programs.

He added that if there is to be control of domestic production and refining, "imports of crude oil and products should be controlled."

Admits Some Ignorance.

The secretary told the committee the administration's experience in the field of marketing had not been "sufficiently conclusive to warrant the recommendation of any provisions relative to the retail selling of petroleum products," adding:

"Neither have I any immediate suggestions to make regarding pipe lines. This is a subject so involved that the possible course of legislative action is not at present clearly defined.

"It is essential that adequate reports on production, Etorage, transportation and refining be required and it is my belief that provisions for such reports must be specific.

There is no simple solution of the question of oil conservation. It involves, as I see it, recognition of the rights of the producing states as well as of those in which consumers only are found. It involves recognition of the provision of the constitution designed to protect thepeople in matters of commerce as well as in matters involving the national defense."

The first reaction of observers to the secretary's general recommendations was that, on their face at least, they did not extend as far toward complete national control as did the Thomas-Desney measure unsuccesefully supported by the administration before the last congress.

Some salient excerpts from the secretary's statement follow:

"x x x A decision on your part to recommend a temporary continuance of the benefits of the petroleum administration would not be enough in my judgment. There are certain fundamental considerations which warrant the determination of a permanent national policy of oil conservation which will be effective not only during periods of scarcity as well as of plenty but also during periods when oil imports will be encouraged as well as when they are being discouraged."

Are Facing Shortage.

"x x x The United States is urging up its oil reserves as a rate which is at least three times as rapid as the rest of the world, as the result of which there will be an oil sortage in the United States long before there is an oil shortage in the rest of the world."

"If we have any regard for the public welfare we must look ahead and not await the day of practical exhaustion before determining upon a policy of wise conservation."

"Acting by itself and within its own limits of authority, no state can protect itself from the influence of uncontrolled drilling and production in another state. x x x I suggest particularly that the committee review the physical and economic influences upon other oil producing states of the excess production in Texas during the summers of 1931 and 1933."

Ickes told the committee the government should continue to have the power to allot the allowed production to the various states and if necessary to go into the state, through committees appointed by the federal authority, and restrict the output there.

He made it clear he thought such authority would seldom have to be exercised, but that he believed the situation would be hopeless without it.

Modification of ideas.

There was noted at least some modification of his insistence upon federal control as placed before the last congress. At that time he advocated outright control from Washington, whereas today he suggested such control, but to operate through federally chosen committees within the state.

Questioned by the committee, Ickes said bluntly Texas was the chief disturbing factor in the oil industry.

"There is no use blinking the question," he said. "Our difficulty now is Texas and has been Texas.

"Unless we have the power to go in and require a state to keep within its allocation the whole thing breaks down."

The secretary had suggested that there should be co-operation insofar as possible between the states and the federal government.

Representative Mapes (R-Mich.) asked him if it would not be better to have the secretary administer the situation without reference to what the states did.

Texas is Trouble.

"There seems a reasonable doubt whether the secretary ought to be dependent on the state regardless of whether states were effective or not," Mapes said. "I should think it might be terribly embarrassing to tell Texas, for instance, it was not doing its duty."

"It would not embarrass me," the secretary shot back. "I think we have passed the stage of social amenities.'

Mapes suggested some witnesses had expressed the view that the government need go no further in regulation than to determine how much oil should go from a state in interstate commerce.

Such a statute, the secretary said, "would not be worth the paper it was written on."

"To hold the federal agency responsible for keeping production down to the quota without granting the necessary power would be an ineffective thing," he added. "I don't see how any federal agency could hope to da mur in the state of Texas oil being overproduced. It just naturally could not be done. Suppose the state authority will not. They have not in the past. A man who will steal his neighbors' oil will find fences to take that stolen oil."

Pettengill Answered.

Representative Pettengill (D-Ind.) asked Ickes why it would not be easier to regulate production merely by restricting the amount that could be moved in interstate commerce.

The secretary replied:

"I had rather take my chances on stopping production at the well before it comes out of the ground than depend upon chasing it all over the map."

Ickes made it plain that he would not favor the oil administration away from the interior department.

The Sport Horn

By BILL PARKER.
Associtaed Press Sports Writer.

SAN ANTONIO, ept. 20.—(AP)—The first Texas League championship playoff game between the San Antonio Missions and the Galveston Buccaneers showed much enthusiasm.

One hour before game time small Tech Field was jammed to capacity with hundreds of fans sitting on the ground, some as near as 15 yards to third and first base. They didn't seem to mind their dangerous "parking space" so long as they could gain a clear view of the playing field.

Trees surrounding the park were "limbed" with hundreds of nonpaying fans long before sundown. The congestion was so bad a number of fans crawled atop the grandstand roof but they were promptly routed from their positions by a husky bluecoat.

Forty-five minutes before game time the ticket booths were closed and no additional tickets were sold.

As in the first series against Beaumont, Manager Henry Severeid of the Missions wore his "civies" and parked himself in a chair in front of the San Antonio dugout. Severeid's injured ankle still is badly swollen.

Owner Shearn Moody of the Buccaneers, expecting a torrid series, appeared at the park dressed for the occasion. He was coatless and had the sleeves of his shirt cut off above the elbows

Buck Stanton, San Antonio first sacker, was the victim of two of the year's most unusual plays. On his first two times at bat he hit clean, sharp singles to right field. That is they were singles when they hit the ground, but on each hit, Beau Bell raced in, scooped up the apparent hits and threw Stanton out at first. The second time Stanton was so disgusted he picked up a handful of dirt and tossed at Bell, who only laughed.

Stanton had a tough night of it. A ground ball off Wallace Moses' bat struck him in the face and "cooled" him for several minutes. He retired from the game. The injury is not serious and he probably will play tonight.

CHURCHES PROTEST NEW YORK LOTTERY FOR RELIEF WORK

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—(AP)— A broadside of criticism was directed today at the city's proposals to raise relief funds through new taxes and a municipal lottery. Threat of a legal fight against the lottery was voiced.

No sooner had the board of aldermen and the board of estimate passed the hurriedly drawn-up measures than protests were raised in several quarters.

The Rev. George Drew Egbert, president of the Society for the Prevention of Crime, said the lottery would "sap the morals of our citizens." He said the society is consulting attorneys to decide what legal action to take.

Mayor F. H. LaGuardia, who accepted the lottery plan after his original proposal for raising money had been rejected, admitted a lottery stood about one chance in ten of being declared legal.

Protests against the tax on federal income taxes and on the levy of one tenth of one per cent on gross business receipts also were directed at the city administration.

Nevertheless, the indications were that the measures would become law at the end of the five days required by statute. Just how soon a test of the legality of the lottery plan is to be made had not been indicated.

Sick and Convalescent.

B. R. Finch, of Purdon, was able to be taken home Thursday from the P. and S. Hospital

T. L. Shields was reported to be slightly improved Thursday afternoon at the P. and S. hospital, following a major operation there recently.

Mrs. Henry Redden and baby daughter were doing nicely Thursday afternoon at the P. and S. hospital and will be able to be taken home in the near future.

OIL FIELD LABOR VOICE OPPOSITION FEDERAL CONTROL

PRESIDENT OF ORGANIZED OIL LABOR SAYS CODE HAS INJURED WORKERS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Organized oil field labor announced opposition to federal oil production control legislation today before a house committee.

H. C. Fremming, president of the International Association of Oil Field, Gas Well and Refinery workers of America, told the committee, which is investigating the need for legislation:

"Employment is reduced in direct proportion to production control."

Fremming, referred to the oil code as a measure of control, said the workers had been injured rather than helped by the code.

"It has resulted in a tremendous decline of employment opportunity," he added. "The stretch-out system is now being employed in many cases.

"The code has been a direct detriment to the workers in the industry. True, hours have been shortened, but so have earnings."

Chairman Cole (D-Md.) remarked to Fremming that he had been informed in both Texas and Oklahoma fields this summer that the unemployment problem in those field was not so serious, but the witness did not agree.

Fremming likewise told the committee that production control "is not in fact conservation."

Price Stabilization.

"It is stabilization of price and always has been. All that is needed to substantiate that statement is to observe the price structure."

He referred to published reports that dividends of the Standard companies nave been increased this year by $15,000,000 over last year.

Fremming asserted the oil code authority, the planning and coordinating committee had "emasculated the labor provisions of the code and that there had been "practically no enforcement" of those provisions that remained.

Violators On Committee.

He recommended removal of the oil administration from secretary Ickes under a "full time administrator" and, speaking of the planning and co-ordinating committee said:

"We need enforcement instead of a lot of Pollyanna talk, instead of having gross violators on the committee."

Representative Wolverton (R-NJ) remarked that it seemed to him that the petroleum administration was "made up very largely of those with only theoretical experience and that there is little if any representation for labor and general public."

Fremming said federal production control was unnecessary and that the situation would take care of itself if an embargo were placed upon oil imports and if "town lot," or unnecessary drillings were eliminated.

YANKS DEFEATED DETROIT; GIANTS GAINED ON CARDS

DETROIT NEEDS FOUR WINS TO CINCH AMERICAN LEAGUE PENNANT

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer.

The Yankees have at least kept the pennant-bound Tigers from adding insult to injury by clinching the American league pennant at the expense of their nearest and most durable rivals but that doesn't seem to have made much difference in the flag race.

After 20 scoreless innings in Detroit, the Yanks scored a third-inning run yesterday, then having broken the charm of Tiger pitching, went on to knock Elden Auker around for a three-run burst in the sixth and won 5 to 2. The only tangible results were that the Tiger lead was reduced to 6 1-2 games and they were left needing four victories to clinch the flag—only three if the list includes a triumph over the Yanks today.

The Giants staged a gain in the National league race when they won a game from Cincinnati and the second-place Cardinals lost a chance to play a doubleheader because of rain at Boston. New York's 6-3 triumph gained through a four run rally in the eighth at the expense of Rookie Beryl Richmond, increased the Giant lead to four games.

The third place Cubs retreated to 7 1-2 games behind the Giants, putting themselves on the ragged edge of elimination as they took a 5-4 setback from the Phillies.

Brooklyn continued to make life miserable for the Pirates, winning a doubleheader 4 to and 8 to 4.

The Athletics climbed to fifth place in the American League with a double victory over the White Sox, 5 to 3 and 14 to

The Senators, now seventh, squared their series with Cleveland by poking out a 5 to decision. St. Louis defeated Boston 3-2, but slipped to sixth place because of the A's double victory.

EVENING PREPARATIONS

BEAUTY FOR THE EVENING

Today Miss Forbes gives a quick beautifying and rejuvenating treatment for the face, which you can do as you bathe and dress for the evening party.

E. K. Forbes

The lady who looks at her face in the glass at the end of the working day, and considers what can be done with it to make it young and ravishing for evening, has need of certain lotions and certain experience in, makeup. She need not have a lot of things and she need not spend a great deal of money. But to buck up the tired face requires several jars of creams and fifteen minutes, and a hot bath as well.

Here is a brand new method which a famous beauty uses — this famous beauty is no longer so young, either, and not ten years within which she seems to be of an evening. First, plenty of cleansing cream, wiped off thoroughly with tissues, while your bath is running. Then a circulation cream, which stings your skin into a new life. After two minutes, or a little more, wipe off and put on a soothing, nourishing cream and hop into your bath, letting it stay on while the hot water rests you.

When dry again, you wipe off this cream, and then you use your foundation cream. You may think you've done with creams before this, but you are wrong. Foundation cream—which sticks on!—for a dry skin. And for an oily one the skin lotions which have powder in them. Mix a drop or so of cream in these. Your skin is flushed and smooth as satin and moist in appearance as a baby's by this time.

Then cream rouge, just a little and then powder patted on thickly and left on until the cream and powder mix of themselves. This is important. Then, after doing your lips and your eyelids and eyelashes, you use powder a second time, smoothing this on as you apply it. A good evening mascara, if you do not want to seem made up, yet want depth and lustre for the eyes, is either a golden tan or the faintest gray—spread all over the eyelids. It seems not to show at all, but it just does do startling things to your eyes. It is one of the rare subtleties of modern makeup, which is smart usually only when it is a bit blatant.

Mrs. D. S.—If you forward a stamped, self-addressed envelope and repeat your request, I shall mail you a full calorie chart that will enable you to handle your diet so you may easily get rid of the extra 40 pounds. The rowing machine will be a convenience for taking exvercises, but it could not be the only means of bring down your weight to what is normal. When planning to eliminate as much weight as you intend to lose, the best thing to do is to have a physical examination, not only at the start, but every few months over the reducing period. You will be able then to check up on your condition, and know exactly how much and what kind of exercising is correct for you to take. You will need exercise, though, to help your muscles build up firmness while you are eliminating the flabby, fatty tissue: If you get rid of five pounds each month, it should be enough, as you will recover firmness more easily by not hastening the reduction.

A. R. D.—Try using plain "sweet almond oil" in place of the heavy cream until your skin recovers fully. The oil will relieve the skin of the dryness and help to restore it to a healthy state again. Over the period of an attack of acne, heavy oils, or the mixtures of a cream, are irritating to the skin, but a fine oil may be used in moderation and help the whole condition, because it soothes and also relieves the very dry state that is present when there is acne. Use the oil at least once a day unless the skin is sufficiently moist and supple without it, and the small lumps left from the eruptions will disappear gradually.

Tomorrow—Forty, or Thereabouts.

Spot in better demand, improved business done; prices six points lower; quotations in pence: American strict good middling 7.56, good middling 7.26, strict middling 7.11, middling 6.96, strict low middling 6.81, low middling 6.61, strict good ordinary 6.41, good ordinery 6.11. Futures closed steady. Oct. 6.77, Dec. 6.74; Jan. 6.71, March 6.69, May 6.66, July 6.64.

New York Cotton Steady.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, unchanged to 2 higher with disappointing Liverpool cables offset by trade buying. Oct. 12.59; Dec. 12.70; Jan. 12.74; March 12.81; May 12.86; July 12.92.

There was also a little outside buying on a theory that the recent decline had carried prices low enough in view of the government 12-cent loan offer to growers. Southern offerings were not large and the market ruled quiet and relatively steady in the early trading.

The textile strike, however, was still said to be a disturbing feature checking more active demand and when prices failed to rally further a little more selling appeared toward the end of the first half hour. October liquidation and exchanging from that month to later positions continued in advance of first notice day next Tuesday. December sold off from 12.72 to 12.66 and May from 12.87 to 12.84 with the general market unchanged to 3 points net lower at around 10:30 o'clock.

Liverpool cables attributed a decline in that market to further liquidation unfavorably influenced by continuation of the strike and favorable American weather.

The market became steadier in the morning trading on appearance of a little outside buying through Wall Street and commission houses. Reports of a conference called by President Roosevelt of his special textile mediation board and the secretary of labor appeared to create hopefulness that a solution of the strike might be reached. December rallied from 12.68 to 12.81 and May from 12.84 to 12.98 with the general market registering net gains of 10 or 12 points by midday.

New Orleans Cotton Steady.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 20.—(AP)— [illegible] previous [illegible] raded at [illegible] from yesterday's close.

Trading improved somewhat as the morning advanced, owing to more favorable strike news. After easing off to levels 3 to 4 points below the previous close at the end of the first hour of trading, with October at 12.59, December at 12.70 and March at 12.79, prices rallied and improved steadily on trade buying and shorts covering. October advanced to 12.73, December to 12.84 and March to 12.92, up 13 to 14 points from the early lows and 9 to 10 points above yesterday's close.

Near mid-session the market was steady and at the highs.

Charge Highway Funds Expended In Illegal Way

AUSTIN, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Charges of "improper and illegal expenditures" of state highway funds contained in a senate resolution today which proposed transfer of $90,000 highway funds to the state auditor for completion of an audit of the highway department.

Recovery of $6,000,000 for the state might be obtained from compilation of supporting data, the resolution said. Over payments or illegal expenditures were attributed to "poor records and wrong interpretations of the law, and not to dishonesty" * * *

The audit would be for the biennium ending August 1, 1933. The resolution was sent to the finance committee for investigation.

TEXTILE STRIKE

sympathizers stoned troops on duty at the Lockwood manufacturing company's cotton plant. The outbreak followed [illegible] between police and [illegible] 16 hours earlier.

The Woonsocket Ray[illegible] Co. [illegible] at Woonsocket, [illegible] I., reopened without disorder. The plant closed last week after rioting in which two persons were killed and several injured.

Police at Sayelsville, R. I., said two workers' homes were stoned today. Last week Saylesville was the scene of a riot in which one person was killed and several wounded.

Thirty-four strikers were held in jail in Macon, Ga., after a tear gas raid on a mass meeting last night. Sheriff's deputies said the workers were "plotting trouble."

Grains and Provisions

Grain Prices Higher.

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—(AP)—An abrupt turnabout in foreign grain markets, which have recently been weak, had much to do today with bringing about higher prices here.

Bulges in Chicago prices, however, were followed by profit-taking, and top levels were not held. Considerable notice was taken of Kansas reports that subsoil moisture reserve supplies of wheat were still meager.

Wheat closed firm, 7-8@1 3-8 above yesterday's finish, December new 1.04 1-8 1-4, corn 1 1-4@1 5-8 up, December new 77 7-8@78, oats 3-4@1 1-4 advanced, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 5 cents.

NOT TOO BRIGHT OR TOO GLOOMY IS MARKET OUTLOOK

STOCKS WERE UNABLE TO CONTINUE THEIR FORWARD THRUST TODAY

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Scattered profit-taking gave the stock market a moderately mixed tone today. A few of the rails registered quiet improvement, as did some of the merchandise issues. Dullness was the rule throughout, however with transfers approximating only 500,000 shares. The close was irregular.

By VICTOR EUBANK
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Sentiment in the financial markets was not too bright today but, at the same time, the gloom did not appear to be so thick as recently.

Stocks were unable to continue their forward thrust of the previous session and prices displayed a highly irregular tone in trading that still lacked any show of activity. Bonds, however, were inclined to do better, although U. S. government securities were narrow and quiet. Grains rallied a cent or more a bushel and cotton recovered moderately. The dollar exhibited renewed strength in terms of leading foreign exchanges. Sterling was rather heavy.

Small gains were recorded by shares of Armour of Illinois preferred (new) and Howe Sound, both ex-dividend, Leow's Sears Roebuck, General Motors, Chrysler, Westinghouse, Reynolds Tobacco B and Alaska Juneau were a trifle firmer. Homestake Mining dropped 3 and U. S. Smelting was off about 2. American Telephone lost more than a point.

That the margin situation may be clarified soon was seen in advices from Washington stating that the federal reserve experts had completed their recommendations on credit extension by brokers, dealers and bankers for securities trading and that the matter was before the reserve board officials for final action.

The market was not especially affected by announcement of Francis J. Gorman, chief of the textile strike forces, that individual settlement of the controversy with different mills was now being considered where union proposals can be agreed upon and where a special adjustment would not interfere with the strike as a whole.

Much interest was expressed in the settlement credited to Joseph B. Eastman, federal coordinator of transportation, that what the railroads need is more traffic and not an increase in freight rates.

CONCISE ANALYSIS OF CONSTITUTION IS GIVEN TO CIVITANS

A concise analysis of the Constitution of the United States was presented by Hon. Luther A. Johnson, representative, at the Civitan club's luncheon meeting Thursday at the Navarro Hotel. Claude Cunningham, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Y. Cunningham, gave two piano solos as the musical portion of the program.

In charge of the program were Ed Wendorf and Charles T. Banister, and President F. C. Paul named G. H. Brown and Elbert Neeley as program committee for next week. The musician's two popular piano numbers were "All I Do Is Dream of You" and "Cocktails for Two," both of which were splendidly played and greatly enjoyed.

In a preface to his address Mr. Johnson said that the only oath he has to take in assuming his duties as representative in Washington, is to pledge to support the constitution. He told of the two most highly prized instruments in Washington, one being the Declaration of Independence and the other the Constitution of the United States. Mr. Johnson pointed out each is in the library of Congress, is heavily guarded day and night, and each is protected from fading by a colored glass.

Background Outlined.

The next portion of his address was utilized to show how people in low and high estates are ignorant of the contents of the constitution. Mr. Johnson briefly outlined the background of the drafting of the constitution, declaring that after the Revolutionary War the government operated under the Articles of Confederation. He pointed out this was unsatisfactory and the Constitutional Convention was called to meet in Philadelphia to frame a Constitution. The meeting was presided over by George Washington, and every state had representatives present.

The speaker said there was much wrangling between the smaller and the larger states, and it was Benjamin Franklin who broke up what appeared to be a deadlock. The outcome was that the house will have representatives from all states according to population, and that each state will have two senators.

Mr. Johnson gave a few succinct facts about the constitution, showing its impressive brevity and clarity and that it has been used as a model and form for other governments.

In the preamble, of 52 words, the six purposes of the government are set out, Mr. Johnson said, and the second portion of the instrument are the seven articles. Mr. Johnson explained each article, and then gave an explanation of each of the 21 amendments.

SUGGESTED ROUTE TO HIGHLAND PARK FOOTBALL STADIUM

Corsicana motorists who plan to drive to Dallas Friday night for the opening football game between Corsicana and Highland Park at Highland Park stadium will find the following suggested route to the site of the game of benefit:

Enter Dallas on Holmes street, highway 75. Turn to the right on Forest avenue and proceed to Fair Park. At Fair Park, proceed north on Haskell avenue to McKinney avenue and out McKinney to the stadium of Southern Methodist university. Highland Park stadium is two blocks west of S. M. U. stadium on Normandy.

This suggested route was given J. N. Garitty by Coach Charlie Trigg of Highland Park Thursday afternoon. Coach Trigg said the lights at the field would be turned on at 7 o'clock Friday night, an hour before the game starts, in order to aid the visitors finding the field.

Navarro County Producers Will Receive $338,000

Navarro county producers who have participated in the 1934 cotton acreage reduction campaign will receive about $338,000 in October and November under the revised plans of the farm administration, with $63,000 of that amount coming about three months ahead of the originally scheduled date of payment.

To date this county has received slightly in excess of $265,000 in the first-half rental payments, and the final figure is expected to reach $275,000. Cotton authorities in Washington announced last week that the parity payments would be combined with the second-half rental funds.

Under this plan, producers of Navarro county will receive about a third of a million dollars in benefits in addition to the price brought by the staple when sold on the market, which is ranging about 13 cents per pound.

Committeemen are still engaged in the measureing of lands leased to the government and the payments cannot be started until the measuring is completed an dth econtracts certified. Local officials estimate that the task of checking the contracts is about 75 per cent complete.

In Memory of Bertha Mae Ray

When we think of love, honor, and devotion combined with that deep-rooted sympathy which comes from an understanding heart, our thoughts turn to Bertha Mae Ray, the arch angel of Emhouse.

Her short life, blossoming over a period of 21 years, was just ripening into the golden glamour of womanhood when she left us. But that sweet life, however short it might have been, was dedicated to one great, soul-satisfying purpose on this earth, that of administering to her fellowman.

Lacking in normal vitality, she possessed a heart of gold and a firmness and determination worthy of an autocrat. Her life, the joy of all who knew her, was a model of perfection and a shining example to those who came in contact with her.

Her joy in life, that which brought immeasurable satisfaction and contentment to that noble heart of hers, was the desire to spread sunshine in the paths of her fellowman; her ability to cheer when one's heart is saddened, and the knowledge that she had made one heart lighter or had produced another smile.

Converted at the age of 15, her life has been spent within Christian circles and, with a natural love for all things spiritual, has been dedicated to the service of God.

Just two days before she passed away, while she and I were alone, she called me to her bedside. There, with all the tenderness that can be stored within a lover's heart, she pulled me close to her, while she talked. Telling me of the ways of God, of His methods of dealing with us mortal creatures, and of the assurance one has of heaven, she stressed specifically the advantage one might have in living a Christian life.

Just so, she went about spreading cheer and comfort to those in need or in distress.

Her life can be likened unto a slowly-moving meteor, pressing its way through the star-studded heavens. Her days with us on earth represented by the brilliantly illumined metoric flash. It comes, we see it awhile, and then it dies. Then, her golden deeds, the self-made sacrifices which were hers, and that interminable love and cheer which she so graciously gave to those about her, represented by the millions of twinkling stars.

Then, who wouldn't have liked to have associated with her; to have walked by her side and enjoyed her love and companionship; and to have strived earnestly and ardently to insure the joy, the hopes and the happiness of life for which she so blissfully dreamed? Who wouldn't have been proud of her as a helpmate, as a steadying force in one's life?

Ah! but God in His infinite mercy and in all His celestial glory, thought it best to take her away, and God never errs. He had prepared a place for her in heaven, and called her home that she might share with Him and His kingdom, her love and regard for others, an example of which can be found in her last hours in this life. Just a few hours before she passed away, and after she had drifted into a semi-conscious state of being, she gazed weakly about her, and, recognizing some who had been with her through the countless, endless hours, she made the repeated request that they retire to some quiet place for sleep and rest.

That was Bertha Mae; loved, honored and mourned.

Oh, sweetheart, thy purity is to me
Like the dewdrop to the clinging vine,
To sustain and soothe with tranquility
This love-enraptured heart of mine.

But there is some consolation in the fact that we might her again in heaven. If we mortal creatures would but follow the inspirational teachings given us in the last stanza of William Cullen Bryant's divine creation, "Thanatopsis." we would reap the fruits of our labor when we cross that Great Divide and receive our everlasting reward.

And though our hearts be troubled and we have experienced the heartaches and miseries that come of the darkest throes of life, let us remember that God makes no mistakes and that He doeth everything for the best.

Just as we would go forth on a bright spring morning and pluck the rarest flowers for a bonquet, so does God reach down with the prevailing hand of judgment and choose from our midst the rarest of His children. Though God may have her with Him in glory we have with us the cherished memories of her life with us on earth. Remembrances locked within the sacredness of our hearts and treasured memories that ne'er will part.

Then, let us remember that purity of heart and mind; that nobleness in which she lived for us on earth; and that Godly saintliness with which she went to live in heaven, as we bow our heads in silent tribute to that virgin of Gods' shrine.

Many days, our precious darling,
Have passed o'er thy fair head;
Gone are they, but not forgotten,
Sweetheart mine, thou art dead.

God has called you, sweetheart, from me,
To rest in peace on Eden's shore
My heart is awed, but I have a memory
Locked in my heart forevermore.

Thou art gone,
Oh! the sting that we are forced to bear,
But thy soul has formed a halo in heaven,
To guide our faltering step up there.

Thou wast all there was, my love,
For which my soul did pine;
But you have gained a haven of rest
In God's eternal shrine.

Then, as now, on this new life I start,
There is one sweet prayer that I'll pray:
"Though we be parted now, sweetheart,
May we met again some day?

One who loved her dearly,
RAYMOND McCLINTOCK.
Emhouse, Texas.

Oh, Raymond, sweetheart, I am going
To the city of God and of love;
I am soon to leave you and loved ones,
To dwell with dear Jesus above.

I'm prepared and I do not fear going,
Come now, sweetheart, sit by my side;
If death were not near, we'd be happy,
For soon I could be your fair bride.

My eyes are so heavy I'm sleepy,
If I never wake up, can't you say,
Some day you will meet me in heaven,
Your would-be bride, little Bertha Mae?

As I'm dying now, won't you please promise,
To stay by my side to the end?
You may roam this wide, wide world over
You will never find no truer friend.

How it grieves me to leave you, dear Raymond,
But I'm going and I leave this request:
Place by me the package of letters,
The ones that I always loved best.

They were from you and in them we planned, dear,
Of a wedding when I grew quite well;
Yes, we planned of your going to college,
Then the good news we would so gladly tell.

But now I must leave you, my darling,
Take the picture you gave me one day;
See that its placed by me, dear Raymond,
May sadden, but please let it stay.

I know it is only a picture,
'Twill cheer me 'til God calls you away;
I'll be waiting and looking, dear Raymond,
Be prepared, and met your Bertha Mae.

A true friend,
MRS. ED. F. BROWN,
Emhouse, Texas.

AGED CORSICANAN DIED EARLY HOUR THURSDAY MORNING

J. S. Reese, aged 80 years, died at 5 o'clock Thursday morning at his home, 313 South Thirteenth street, after a lingering illness. Funeral services will be held some time Friday, but no definite arrangements have been made, pending the arrival of a son from Oklahoma.

The body is at the Corley Funeral Home, which will have charge of the funeral.

Rainbow Winner Over Endeavour Thursday's Race

ABOARD U. S. C. G. CUTTER ARGO OFF NEWPORT, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Ably handled by Harold S. Vanderbilt the American defender Rainbow came charging through the windward leg of the 30-mile leeward-windward course today to overcome a six minute 40 second advantage Endeavour held at the halfway mark and score her first victory in three races over the British challenger.

The victory made the count two races for Endeavour and one for Rainbow.

Rainbow's margin of victory was three minutes two seconds.

The official finish was: Rainbow 3:15:34, Endeavcr 3:19.

Germany Surprised.

BERLIN, Sept. 20.—(AP)—The foreign office expressed extreme surprise today at allegations by a witness before the munitions inquiry in Washington yesterday that German officers are training South American armies.

"We know of only one, General Kundt, engaged in South American service," a spokesman said. (General Hans Kundt until last December commanded Bolivia's army in the war with Paraguay).

"Kundt went to South America secretly against the wishes of the German government," the spokesman continued.

Farm Strike In Middlewest New Threat Today

DES MOINES, Sept. 20.—(AP)—The board of directors of the National Farmers Holiday Association today unanimously decided that a farmers' strike would not be called at this time, Milo Reno, president of the association, announced.

Reno said that a discussion on the subject brought out that the farmers had nothing to sell and that they had nothing to gain at this time.

The directors passed a resolution demanding that the farmer be given the same consideration as labor in the right to organize without interference by the AAA.

DES MOINES, Sept. 20.—(AP)—A farm strike in the Middlewest was threatened today.

The threat came from the convention of the Iowa Farmers Union and recalled disorders a year ago when the National Farmers Union Holiday Association attempted to reduce the nation's food basket with a nation-wide strike.

The proposal to strike was put before the convention yesterday by John Chalmers of Madrid, vice president of the union, who charged that the farm administration is "putting the farmer in a straightjacket." The strike is to be called, the resolution says, unless the government gives the farmers immediate "consideration."

A vote was scheduled today, with Chalmers declaring he would be "the most disappointed man on earth" if the measure is not adopted. "Now," he said, "is the opportune time to strike."

Special Textile Boards Reports To President

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 20.—(AP)—Findings of the special board of inquiry in the textile strike were submitted to President Roosevelt today by Gov. Winant, of New Hampshire, the chairman.

The governor carefully refrained from expressing any opinion on the strike to newspapermen before going to the summer white house.

"We have some ideas," he said and that was all.

Miss Frances Perkins, secretary of labor, also was called to the Roosevelt conference table today and there was every indication that the President was ready to take action on the textile strike now two weeks old.

Wants Report Made Public.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Francis J. Gorman, chairman of the textile strike committee, demanded today that the report of the President's mediation board be made public immediately.

Gorman's statement was made while Secretary Perkins and Governor John G. Winant chairman of the mediation board, were on their way to a conference with President Roosevelt at Hyde Park.

"It is apparent," Gorman said, "that the report is in the hands of Secretary of Labor Perkins and it ought to be made public at once. The delay that has already taken place is astonishing and I am unable to account for it. Unless it is made public I fail to see that anything is to be accomplished throught that report and the Winant board might as well not have been named.

"Obviously we can take no action on the basis of a report that is kept secret. I fail to see what service can be performed through the report unless it is made public."

Sherman Wrestler Is Loser to Nebraskan

LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 20.—(AP)—John Pesek of Ravenna, Neb., was awarded a victory over Dutch Heffner of Sherman, Tex., in the main event of a national guard wrestling show here last night.

After 37 minutes of grappling Heffner dived at Pesek, plunged out of the ring and knocked himself out. Pesek was awarded a fall on the incident, and was declared winner of the match when Heffner failed to go on with the contest. Pesek weighed 185 and Heffner 228 pounds.

Bein Fait, Famous Corsicana Racer, to Be In Waggoner Race

FORT WORTH, Sept. 19. (Spl.)—Bein Fait, famous three-year-old son of Bubbling Over-Bon Voyage, owned by the Corsicana Stables, will be named for the $10,000 added Waggoner Handicap to be decided at Arlington Downs during the autumn season, Oct. 25 through Nov. 12. Bein Fait trounced practically all of the best three-year-olds in the west while in Chicago, bowing only to the speed of Cavalcade. He is a vastly improved colt which is certain to turn on plenty of speed during the stretch run at the Waggoner course.

OIL CONTROL

army whether or not there is any apparent danger of conflict.

Unlimited Power Alleged.

He added he believed an academic matter congress could go further than merely controlling production and could if it saw fit control the use of production as well "if in the interest of conservation."

To the argument that restricting a man's oil production would run counter to the law of capture—which roughly is that an operator is entitled to the oil his wells bring up—and thus violate constitutional due process, Margold replied the right of a state to take such a course already had been established.

In the famous Chanplin case, he said, the supreme court had held in effect that the state had a right to restrict production "for the greater good" even though it infringed upon individual property rights.

Power Well Established.

"The power of congress," he added, "is not limited to any greater extent than is the state's and in fact congress can go further to the exclusion of the acts of state legislatures."

As the national power to regulate production under the commerce clause, Margold contended that was well established. He conceded it had been argued that production was mining, not commerce, but said that the "very nature" of production showed it was a component port of trade, and thus of commerce.

Chairman Cole asked Margold how far the federal government could go in the case of Texas, which, uniquely, is the actual owner of much oil land.

The witness replied that Texas in his opinion had no greater proprietary right than any individual.

Finally, he said, he saw Capt. Warms leaping over the bridge rail to the foredeck and he exclaimed to George Rogers, chief operator who had joined him after sending the SOS:

"Look at the yellow rat leaving us here—deserting us."

Alagna, whose testimony has been awaited with eagerness because of charges he is understood to have made before a federal grand jury investigating the disaster, told a story of smoke and leaping flames and fire hose twisting slowly under low pressure.

Smoke in Radio Room.

When he first went into the radio room, two or three minutes after being awakened by tramping feet about 3 a. m., Alagna said there was smoke but no fire at the radio. The smoke came from directly below the radio room, he said.

Before he entered the room he saw flames leaping so high above the room's roof that he believed the fire had been burning at least an hour before he awoke.

In the closet in the radio room there was smoke, he said. It was in there, Alagna told the board that mattresses and some combustible polish were carried. The polish, he said, was a paste, which, when being used, was mixed with kerosene to make it more effective.

Alagna said that he had been told the kerosene was kept in a locker behind the radio room and that all the sailors, the deck department and the officers knew that it was kept there.

Loses Way in Smoke.

When he had gotten the order to send the SOS and started back to the radio room, Alagna testified, the smoke was so dense that he blundered past the radio room and it was not until flames leaped up in front of him that he realized it and had to turn back.

The SOS was first sent at 3:25 a. m. Alagna testified. The position was given as 20 miles off Scotland Light.

Alagna said that he remembered each trip he made to the bridge because each was significant in that he got no cooperation from the bridge. He said that he made all the trips but one on his own initiative and after each had to encourage Rogers.

It was at 3:15 that the "standby" signal was sent out without orders from the bridge after Alagna had reported back to the radio room for the third time without orders.

No Poison in Body.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Alexander O. Gettleer, Bellevue Hospital toxicologist, announced today that the charred remains of Captain Robert Willmott, master of the burned Morro Castle who died several hours before his ship was destroyed, contained no trace of poison

The analysis was ordered because of persistent rumors that Captain Willmott had met with foul play.

The analysis of the remains showed traces of lead, copper and brass which the toxicologist said were due to the presence of melted metals in the ruins of the cabin where the master's [illegible] was found after the [illegible] burned itself out.

There was no trace [illegible] foreign toxic substances, [illegible]ettler said.

Workmen were called by the government to burrow beneath the Socialist central headquarters, where there were reported to be subterranean cellars containing arms.

Cabinet members and high officials had been marked for death, police said. Plans had been laid, they added, for the capture of munitions plants an to take over the air force and army. A revolutionary general strike was to aid the revolters, who wished to establish a "proletarian state."

FARMER SLAIN IN CONTROVERSY OVER CORNSTALK FIELD

TEXARKANA, rk., Sept. 20.—(AP)—W. N. Harkness, county attorney, today planned to file murder charges against a 24-year-old farmer, who surrendered to Bowie county officers after the slaying of Will Sisk, a 47-year-old tenant farmer, in an argument over the disposition of a field of cornstalks. Sisk died at a Texarkana hospital while physicians prepared for an operation on an abdominal wound. Before he died, Sisk gasped his version of the shooting from the operating table. He said the trouble started over the cutting of cornstalks on his land. Sisk said he attempted to talk with the man when he found him in his corn field and was shot. Sisk said he called to a negro farm hand, but the youth waved him aside with a shotgun and threatened him. The youthful farmer shot at him twice, the second charge taking effect, Sisk said.

An expression of the senate likely will be sought on the interest rate provision. Both houses agreed on four per cent, but a rate of four and one half per cent was urged in the committee.

Resumption of debate on problems of the oil industry was scheduled in the house. A resolution proposing a legislative investigathin of oil proration enforcement in East Texas fields was pending.

While talk continued of the likelihood of another special session, primarily to consider transfer of administratin of conservation statutes from the Texas railroad commission to a new agency many believed authorization of the investigation would effect a delay.

The administration was reported "well pleased" with the committal of 104 house members to the policy of creating a new commission. Representative Jesse James of Cameron, who conducted the house poll, indicated decision for another session likely would hinge upn the attitude of the senate, which killed a similar bill last year.

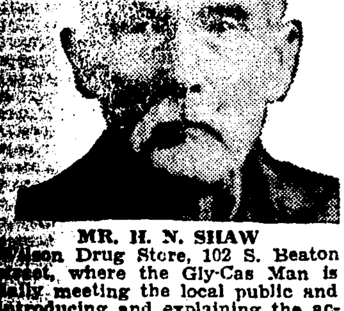
Stomach and Kidney Disorder Yields Easily to the Gly-Cas; Now Eats and Sleeps Good, Feels Fine After Years Of Suffering.

"I actually threw my money away on other medicines before I found this new Gly-Cas," said Mr. H. N. Shaw, age 76, 3308 West [illegible] Ave., Greenville, Texas, recently in a statement reaching the



MR. H. N. SHAW

Wilson Drug Store, 102 S. Beaton street, where the Gly-Cas Man is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the action of this new remedy!

"Gly-Cas was recommended to me by a friend as being able to restore by health—AND IT DID JUST THAT," he continued, "Since I had a bad case of the flu my health had failed me. My kidneys caused me to be up six and seven times each night, had a severe pain in my side continually. My appetite failed me completely and I never knew what it was to be hungry. Gas formed on my stomach and made me so short of breath at times it was difficult to breath. Then too dizzy spells made my life more miserable. I tried everything seemingly but in spite of all the medicine I took I suffered continually. I was terribly discouraged and even when I began taking Gly-Cas I thought I was throwing my money away."

"But Gly-Cas benefited me from the very first dose,' said Mr. Shaw. "It was almost miraculous how quickly Gly-Cas regulated my [illegible] and kidneys. My appetite is restored too, eat what I [illegible] and relish every bite. That [illegible] has been eliminated, sleep good and am like new. The action of Gly-Cas was not a happen so on my case alone either for I know many others who have received wonderful benefit and my wife was relieved of years of suffering from constipation by this new remedy. Gly-Cas is truly wonderful."

Gly-Cas has proven its merit in hundreds of thousands of cases and there is no need of perhaps wasting time and money on untried medicines when Gly-Cas has proven its merit.'

The Gly-Cas Man is kept busy every day at the Wilson Drug Store, 102 S. Beaton, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the action of this new remedy.

departments have been under the immediate direction of Inspector John Lyons, of the New York police department, bureau of criminal information.

"We have in custody the man who received the ransom money. His name is Bernard Richard Hauptmann, 1279 East 222nd street. He came to this country as a stowaway eleven years ago. He is an alien unlawfully in the country.

"It is not in the interests of the case that a more detailed statement be made at the moment. I can say, however, that what has been accomplished constitutes an outstanding example of the effectiveness of unified action and teamwork as displayed by the three departments."

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Arrest of Richard Hauptmann in New York City in connection with the Lindbergh kidnaping was announced today by Attorney General Cummings.

Cummings said "Hauptmann is known to have passed some of the Lindbergth ransom money and to have had a substantial amount of it in his home at the time of his arrest."

Cummings said that a full announcement on the matter would be issued by Police Commissioner O'Ryan in New York City.

"I suspect," the law chief said, "that Commissioner O'Ryan will outline the part played in this case by three deuartments; the New Jersey state police, the New York City police and the department of justice.

'I appreciate the co-operation between the three departments."

No further enlightenment on the case was given by the attorney general.

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the department's division of investigation who handled the climax of the case in New York, was in telephonic communication with the attorney general during the luncheon hour.

It was after this conversation that Cummings made his disclosure.

Cummings made his announcement to a large group of correspondents in his office. He told them he would have no statement to make in the Lindbergh matter other than to say that Police Commissioner O'Ryan would give important disclosures.

Previously Cummings had conferred at length with William Stanley, assistant attorney general, and Henry Suydam, a special assistant attorney general.

The three had lunched at the University Club, across the square from the department of justice building and it was while they were there that they were in communication with Hoover.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—(AP)—A reported impending "break" in the two-and-one-half year old mystery of the Lindbergh kidnaping case caused Dr. John F. Condon, the "Jafsie" emissary of the Lindberghs, to be taken to police headquarters this afternoon.

Department of justice officials in Washington said the case was "hot," and there were unconfirmed reports in New York that four men and two women were being questioned.

Another report said that five persons, including a woman, were being questioned at the Greenwich street police station, on the lowest West Side.

Leaders of the investigation gathered at the station were J. Edgar Hoover, head of the bureau of investigation of the department of justice; Frank Fay, head of the New York district for the department; Col. Norman Schwarzkopf, superintendent of New Jersey state police, and other high police officials who have been active in the investigation since the kidnaping.

Crowds Gathered

The unusual police activity at the Greenwich street station caused crowds to gather in the street, and police stopped traffic through the thoroughfare in the block where the station was located.

Late in the afternoon three detectives took a man, presumably a suspect into the station. Other officers opened the gates and the three detectives almost ran their man down into the jail.

Extra detectives were scattered through the crowds.

The man taken into the station had blond hair, was of stocky build and wore a brown suit. He was about 25 years old. As he was hurried into the station he covered his face with his hands.

Fay left the station at midafternoon, stepped into his car and drove away. He returned in about seven minutes, but declined to make any statement. He said there might be one later.

The unconfirmed report of the finding of the money beneath the floor of a Bronx house was to the effect that a short time a motorist stopped at a filling station, purchased some gasoline and paid for it with a $10 bill.

The proprietor of the filling station, this report said, became suspicious, notified police and the bill was found to bear the same number as one of the bills included in the $50,000 ransom money handed a supposed emissary of the kidnapers over a wall of St. Raymond's cemetery in the Bronx.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—(AP)—A gathering of many of the noted figures in the investigation of the kidnaping and slaying two and one-half years ago of Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr, led to unconfirmed reports at police headquarters today that a "break" in the case was imminent.

J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the United States bureau of investigation of the department of justice; Frank Fay, head of the New York district of the department; Col. Norman Schwarzkopf, superintendent of the New Jersey state police, and other high police officials conferred with Police Commissioner John F. O'Ryan in the Greenwich street police station.

While official word of their activities was lacking, it was reported that three men were being questioned in connection with the kidnaping.

Another report, which also lacked confirmation, was that four men and two women were being questioned.

O'Ryan, Hoover, Fay and Schwarzkopf met at police headquarters about noon and proceeded to the Greenwich street station, which is the headquarters of the police undercover squad. Commissioner O'Ryan cancelled his customary conference with the press at noon to go to the Greenwich street station.

May Be Climatic Development.

It remained to be seen whether there had been a climatic development to the far-flung watch for bills of various denominations making up the sum of $50,000 which the noted aviator father of the child paid in a futile effort to ransom his baby.

Attention of authorities has been given from time to time to isolated cases of this money appearing. There was a curiosity as to whether clinching evidence had been developed as to the source from where the money came.

The baby was taken from his crib in the then new home of the Lindberghs near Hopewell, N. J., on the blustery night of March 1, 1932.

An intensive search was started immediately that night and one day less than a month later Dr. John F. Condon, later to become prominent in the case as "Jafsie," handed $50,000 in ransom money over a wall of St. Raymond's cemetery in the Bronx to a supposed emissary of the kidnapers.

The following May 12, the body of the baby was found in a shallow grave beside a road not far from the Lindbergh estate.

Condon On Hand

Accompanied by Detective William Wallace, of police headquarters, and a New Jersey detective, Dr. Condon left his home at 2974 Decatur Avenue, the Bronx, at midafternoon for police headquarters.

There was an unconfirmed report that $28,000 of the ransom money had been found beneath the floor of a house in the Bronx, a mile or two from the place where Dr. Condon handed the money over the cemetery fence to a man called "John."

Another unconfirmed report was that the gathering of leaders of the investigation into the kidnaping had resulted from department of justice agents this morning picking up a man who was alleged to have paid for some gasoline recently with a $10 bill later found to be one of the ransom bills.

This report said that the proprietor of the gasoline filling station notified police, that the bill was checked and when it was found to bear a number listed in the ransom bills, the man was picked up and taken, with his wife, to the Greenwich street police station.

This report said that with them at the station was a baby.

Another part of the same report, also unconfirmed, said that a search of the man's property disclosed $35,000 of the Lindbergh ransom money.

Unwonted Activity In Police Circles

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Unwonted activity in police circles this afternoon caused unconfirmed surmises as to whether sensational developments in the Lindbergh kidnaping case were impending.

No tangible information was readily obtainable.

Agents of the department of justice and New York City and Jersey police apparently were especially busy.

There was no definite indication that any arrests had been made.

J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the bureau of investigation of the United States department of justice, was known to be somewhere in New York. Information from one presumably reliable source said there were considerable grounds for reports that there might be developments in the Lindbergh case.

Frank Fay, head of the New York office of the department of justice, who has been assigned especially to the Lindbergh matter could not be reached at his office. Nor could J. Norman Schwarzkopf, head of the New Jersey state police, who has devoted great attention to the case since the first child of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh kidnaped March 1, 1932 at Hopewell, N. J., it was found dead May 12.

Nothing Known at Home

At the Lindbergh home in Englewood, N. J., it was stated nothing was known of any developments. Mr. and Mrs. Lindbergh are on the Pacific coast on a flight.

Schwarzkopf, whose headquarters is in Trenton, N. J., was reported to be in New York, but could not be located immediately.

Fay was found later at police headquarters and would say only:

"I have nothing to say, but I will admit that Hoover is in town and any announcement on the Lindbergh case in this city will be made by him. That is all I can say at this time."

The search for the Lindbergh kidnapers has been carried on unrelentingly by federal, state and local officials since the night of March 1, 1932, when a nurse discovered the 20-month old boy had been taken from his crib in the then new home of the Lindberghs near Hopewell, N. J.

Police and federal officials have followed "leads" that have taken the course of the investigation all over the United States and in Europe.

NORTH HAVEN, Me., Sept. 20.—(AP)—As far as could be ascertained here this afternoon, nothing was known at the summer home of Mrs. Dwight Morrow, mother of Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, relative to developments in the kidnaping and slaying of the son of Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh.

PLAN FOR NEW YORK RELIEF LOTTERY IS MEETING OPPOSITION

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—(AP)—An avalanche of affliction—protests, prospects of court tests, and coolness on the part of Mayor La Guardia—descended today on the plan for a municipal lottery.

A separate hearing for the scheme, part of a three-point program to raise relief funds, was set tentatively for next Thursday, and Mayor La Guardia said:

"They may convince me that we shouldn't undertake it."

The mayor conceded that in the event of a court test, there was but a slim chance that the legislation would be upheld.

Religious and civic organizations pouring in their protests, laid plans for a mass demonstration Thursday at city hall.

The Brooklyn Church and Mission Federation, denouncing the lottery as "unethical and unchristian," anonunced that 440 Protestant pastors have been asked to circulate round-robins in their congregations.

The lottery resolution, adopted Tuesday by the board of aldermen, recognizes the "municipal supplemnet relief association" as an agency to conduct a disguised lottery, to raise funds for unemployment relief.

Public hearings will be held next Tuesday on the other two measures in the three-point plan—a city income tax and a business tax.

ALLRED

Crorys' temporary restraining order were opened this morning by Tom Black of Austin, representing all of the defendants in the case save the secretary of state.

W. W. Heath, secretary of state, was represented by Elbert Hooper, an assistant attorney general.

Joe Burkett, attorney for Candler and his associates, represented the plaintiffs.

Court Room Crowded.

The court room was crowded with spectators. Allred, center of the legal storm, was absent, remaining in Austin.

Chief Justice Bickett and Associate Justice Murray sat as the court as Associate Justice Smith was absent because of the death of Judge T. D. Cobbs, Sr., former member of the court with whom Judge Smith was associated for many years.

Judge Bickett called the case "James E. Kilday vs. the State of Texas."

"Is that the case regarding the keeping of Allred's name off the ballot?" asked Burkett.

"That's the case you're interested in, Mr. Burkett," Judge Bickett declared.

Style of Case Reversed.

James Kilday, Houston attorney, was chairman of the Democratic convention and a party to the proceedings through Judge McCrorys order restraining him from certifying Allred's name to the secretary of state as the party nominee. In the appeal from Judge McCrory's court the style of the case became as read by Judge Bickett.

The State of Texas figures as a party in the suit because the law requires such suits to be filed in the name of the state upon the relation of the district attorney.

Burket informed the court that he had been unable to study the briefs filed in the court in behalf of the various defendants. He declared he might want to file answering briefs

The court said Burkett could file briefs if he desired.

"This is a case of great importance and it ought to be expedited as quickly as possible," Judge Bickett suggested, pointing out that Burkett could file his briefs after the conclusion of the oral arguments.

Seek Removal Restraining Order

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Removal of a temporary restraining order granted by a district court to keep the secretary of state from certifying James V. Allred as democratic nominee for governor, was the request Allred's attorneys planned to make of the fourth court of civil appeals here today.

Contending the restraining order, granted by W. W. McCrory, district judge was illegal because the Court had no jurisdiction in the matter, defense attorneys asked for its dissolution.

Meanwhile, Martin Wright, purportedly a member of Allred's finance board, was cited for contempt for allegedly wilfully failing to appear before a notary public to answer interrogations addressed to him by Joe Burkett, San Antonio attorney who filed the suit against Allred. Judge McCrory fined Wright $100 and set Oct. 8 as the date on which a hearing would be held to determine why the fine should not be imposed.

Burkett also filed a motion asking the Court to set aside an order which had suspended the taking of depositions from Allred and R. G. Waters, his campaign manager. Defense counsel assured the Court that Allred and Waters would appear in court to answer questions.

MANY STARS TO BE FEATURED IN FAIR MUSICAL PRODUCTION

DALLAS, Sept. 20.—Girls, grand opera, slapstick comedy, wild animal thrillers gorgeousness and color splendor, and a great variety of entertanment is offered in "The Show of a Century," the musical extravaganza booked in the auditorium at the 1934 State Fair of Texas, Oct. 6 to 21, it has been announced here by Otto Herold of the exposition.
